

OBECHAIN WOMAN BARES LOVE STORY

Accused Feminine Slayer Put on Witness Stand in Los Angeles; Tells Life Menace With Kennedy, Slain Man

First Tears Appear in Eyes of Witness When Sections of Her Diary Concerning "Belton" Are Read to the Jury.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASSED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
LOS ANGELES, March 9.—The story of Madalynne O'Connell Obchain, who said she had been chased seven months to tell concerning J. Belton Kennedy, local broker, for whose murder she is on trial here, began today when she was called to the stand as a witness in her own defense.

She smiled at the clerk as she was sworn as a witness. Her opening testimony was that she had been in the county jail for seven months, since the morning of August 6 last, when she was arrested following the shooting of Kennedy at his Beverly (then bungalow). She said that she was not allowed access to her letters or property since that time.

She was pale and spoke quite low, although appearing composed and not hesitating in her answers to questions, but it was necessary for her attorneys to admonish her to speak higher. Her eyes were upon the jurors most of the time, saying that she kept a diary of her activities in 1921, she referred to it frequently to refresh her memory.

TELLS OF ARRIVAL IN L. A.
"I arrived in Los Angeles January 7, 1921," she said. "I did not meet Mr. Kennedy for some time, although I saw him once or twice on the street. On January 14 I telephoned to him, asking that he return my letters. He refused to return them until I consented to see him. On my second telephone conversation, January 24, he said he would never return unless I saw him that night."

"I consented to see him that night and waited for some time in the street, and then saw him approach, accompanied by his father. We talked for some two hours."

She continued to tell him for the first time, she testified, saying that she "wanted everything ended, believing that that would make it happier for everybody."

Kennedy wanted to continue their relations, pleading her "to hear" with him further.

MOTHER LIL, HIS EXCUSE.
Kennedy told her that owing to his mother's illness he could not do that which his "heart asked" him to do, she testified. On one occasion, she said, Kennedy told her, in a taxi cab, and in others waited for her outside of her abode.

Mrs. Obchain's first letter after she took the stand came when her attorney, testifies, told her, by letter from Kennedy to her, as it was printed in a local newspaper, and which was not produced by the district attorney when he offered the letter in evidence.

The letter, as read, was written by Kennedy to Mrs. Obchain just after she had left suddenly and without informing Kennedy of her intention, for Chicago, and the letter had been read, drawing Mrs. Obchain's tears, argument began on the admissibility of the letter in evidence.

ENTRY IN DIARY IS READ.
"If I could do tonight B. is fine," she said.

The foregoing phrase was read by Mrs. Obchain from her diary as of about July 17. She said "B" meant Belton Kennedy's given name. This entry was made during her visit to Los Angeles within three weeks of the death of Kennedy.

This was written after Kennedy's mother was said to have made statements about her, and visited Mrs. Louise Wilson, Mrs. Obchain's confidante, in an effort to prevent a marriage between Kennedy and Madalynne.

Kennedy did not see her for several days and failed to keep a promise to telephone to her, this prompting her to make the notation in her diary, she testified.

She testified that she received from Kennedy while she was in Chicago, between March and June last year, and which she said were in her trunk at the time of her arrest.

Prosecuting attorneys denied that there were in the trunk. In these letters, she said, Kennedy advised her to stay in Chicago and wait for him, that he was planning to get away from everything here and going abroad until his parents would become reconciled to the marriage.

Later in the letter, she testified, Kennedy said he had arranged for her marriage to a man in San Francisco, June 14 she went to San Francisco, she said, and July 6 came to Los Angeles, where she met Kennedy every day until July 11, when the attack occurred, she testified.

Kennedy telephoned and apologized and said he did not believe he should see Madalynne for several days, but would telephone soon, she testified. He did not telephone until July 17, when she hung up the telephone on him, believing that he was false, she said. It was about this time, she said, that she made the entry in her diary.

Mrs. Obchain then testified that Kennedy urged her, during the summer of 1921, to go to Santa Ana and marry him. This was after she had obtained her divorce. She said that she refused, telling him that she wanted to talk to his parents. She said that during this time, early in the sum-

"THREE MINUTE TALES" BY AD SCHUSTER

ENTER, FATHER

WHEN Dan Carney noticed that the shuffling street sweeper who entered the boarding house across the street had one finger missing on his left hand, the adventure began. A little later, when he saw a rather distinguished looking middle-aged man emerge in evening clothes, and saw that the left hand was unmistakably the same, he sensed the unusual and decided to follow. It was dinner hour, and the streets were crowded.

Into a cellar restaurant, a place of jazz and lights, Dan followed the man who had been a street sweeper. He saw him sit at a table where two other chairs were turned, and selected for himself a small table nearby. The first of the two chairs was turned, and the man emerged from the chairs, singing the while, "Oh, Won't You Wrap Me Up In a Little Paper Package and Take me Home?" Dan looked at the large girl and smiled with her at the absurdity of the words.

Then into the restaurant and to the table where the elder man sat, came a young man and a girl. He was a young man and a girl, with the look of clean living and the out-of-doors. She was a trifle over-dressed, made up a little, and was pretty in a way that was obvious and cheap.

The girl introduced the elder man to the other, and Dan stretched out a modest dinner until the three had finished one much more pretentious. He heard the party talk, and while he could not hear the words, saw that the old man took the lead in the pleasant conversation. The girl's eyes, when she looked at the younger man, was the soft glow of real love, the romantic thought but when she looked at the gray-haired man they held a wondering pride that was magnificent. There was a story here, Dan decided, and he would wait for a solution.

SUDDENLY the younger man glanced at his watch and said, "We must hurry to catch our train," he said, loud enough for Dan to hear. Then he shook hands warmly with the other and the girl, and he went out, leaving the old man and whispered in his ear. The two left and the street sweeper sat down again and smoked while he looked into his coffee. Dan Carney moved over and took a seat next to him.

"Tell me that old top," began Dan, offering the other a cigar. "You see, I live in your neighborhood, and I've seen you before. It seems to have bowed you over a bit, the girl going. Maybe I can help."

The man smiled at Dan through a cloud of smoke. "I don't mind telling you," he answered. "It's been a pretty girl, and a pretty night for two people. If you have seen me before, you will know that I am just a little out of my element. You don't know, though, how good it feels to have a man enjoy prolonging the experience." He puffed appreciatively and in silence at the cigar, and Dan, expert at winning confidences, knew enough to hold his tongue.

"That's a pretty girl, wasn't it?" the man began, "and tell me, don't you think she was happy?"

"She looked," Dan answered, "as if she had found the dream of her childhood, as if she was very proud of you."

The man straightened and looked at Dan keenly. "So," he said, "you are right. It was she who got me to rent this suit and come here tonight. In a few minutes she will be on her way to San Francisco, and from there she and her husband will sail for Australia. They were married today, and had a good time, and a new sense of happiness begun."

There was another pause.

I HAVE not been much of a father, but I have had a hard time of it, and each shifted the best way he could. A girl who has to dress well does not always relish the idea of a dad who sweeps the streets. She never tells me that, but I know, for I have been a street sweeper, and I know she had a father and a home and that—well, that is all of the story.

Dan pivoted the little dinner party all over again and placed the other fragments of the story. He saw again the soft look in the girl's eyes, the new and happy expression that would take the place of one more hard, and he sensed something of the story of a woman who had seized upon a wonderful chance and who was going to make the most of it. His companion's eyes were moist.

"Old top," said Dan, gripping the other's hand, "you need a worry. That girl, thanks to her dad, will make good."

"And Dan, and the street sweeper walked out together to the sparkling street.

BRADY WINS RETRIAL IN GANG CASE

Judge Ward Erred in Barring Out Evidence Tending to Impair Jean Stanley's Testimony, Ruling States

Defendant's Case Prejudiced by Decision, Court Holds; Public Sentiment Cited As a Reason For Caution

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—Thomas Brady, one of the five so-called Howard street gangsters, convicted of an alleged attempted assault upon Jean Stanley, obtained a reversal of his case and a new trial at the hands of the district court of appeals today.

The conviction of the other four men—Edmund (Spud) Murphy, K. O. Kravosky, Allen McDonald and James Carey—has already been affirmed by the higher court of the state and they are serving terms of from ten to fifty years in San Quentin penitentiary.

Brady, after acquittal on a charge of attacking Jessie Montgomery and a disagreement on a similar charge involving Jean Stanley, finally was convicted of an attempted felonious assault upon the latter and sentenced to San Quentin penitentiary to one to fourteen years.

REVERSAL BASED ON JUDGE WARD'S DECISION.
The reversal of the case today was the result of the refusal of Superior Judge Louis Ward to admit evidence tending to impeach the testimony of Jean Stanley.

The sensation of the trial, when Miss Stanley is alleged to have told Policewoman O'Connor that Brady had not assaulted her, while he was only a bystander in the crowd, evidence concerning which was not admitted at the trial, forms the ground work for the court reversal.

Brady's counsel, William F. Horvath, made every effort to introduce the conversation as tending to impeach Miss Stanley's evidence.

CASE OF DEFENDANT PREJUDICED, IS RULING.
The conviction of the gangster was the result of a Thanksgiving eve party in 1920, when Jessie Montgomery and Jean Stanley were brutally treated and alleged to have been assaulted by him in a Howard street shack.

Murphy, Kravosky and McDonald were convicted of attacking the girls. Carey was found guilty by reason of the charge that he had enticed them into the automobile, but it was disclosed that Brady had only been a part of the conspiracy to the extent of being present during the drinking party. He claims to have left the shack before the actual attack occurred and the court finds that there was a discrepancy in the testimony on this point.

The court holds that the case of the defendant was prejudiced because Judge Ward refused to allow the cross-examination of Jean Stanley along certain lines which might have tended to impeach her testimony. The court found that the trial court committed error in a manner prejudicial to the substantial rights of the defendant as the result of which he was prevented from having a fair trial.

CAUTION URGED TO INSURE ALL RIGHTS.
It may be said that this was the fifth defendant at the seventh trial on charges growing out of this moral outrage to be brought before the trial judge presiding here. The evidence of the brutality and indignity visited upon these girls, such as to shock the sensibilities of the judge and the community. Under such strained circumstances it is only consistent with human feeling that there should be a sincere desire to promptly and adequately impose the law's penalty upon those who have been the law's violators, but even under those circumstances the constitutional rights of the accused to a fair and impartial trial is not to be sacrificed to public sentiment. Where, as seems to be the situation here, public sentiment has been righteously aroused there is an apparent inclination to condemn all persons connected with the affair to the same fate. The trial court should exercise the utmost care in seeing to it that the accused is accorded the full measure of his constitutional rights and that every opportunity recognized by the law is given him to prove his innocence.

The opinion was written by Superior Judge Knight who was acting as justice pro tem in place of Justice Richards and is concurred in by presiding Justice Tyler and Justice Kerrigan.

Princess Named As Correspondent Admits Guilt

BERLIN, March 9.—(By International News Service.)—Princess Elitel Friedrich, daughter-in-law of the former Kaiser, appeared in the Potsdam court today as co-respondent in a divorce suit brought by the Baroness Plettenberg.

The princess confessed she had known the Baroness Plettenberg intimately for years and that their relations continued after her marriage to the ex-Kaiser's son.

The persons in the court were astonished at the princess' frank confession of guilt.

The charges were in the form of a legal statement, in which was handed up to the judge.

"Do you swear this statement is true?" asked the court.

The princess laughed as though enjoying a joke as she replied: "I swear it is true."

The court was angered by the levity of the princess in the manner in which she treated the charges against her morality. The judge reprimanded her, telling her that her conduct was not compatible with the dignity of the court.

A letter was introduced which the princess had written to Baron Plettenberg in which she said: "You know that I have nothing in common with the man to whom I am married."

Baron Plettenberg was an officer in a guards' regiment during the war. Prince Elitel Friedrich is the second son of the former German emperor. He was married to Princess Sophie Charlotte, daughter of the Grand Duke Friedrich August of Oldenburg, February 27, 1900. He is 42 years of age. The princess is still a woman of great beauty. She has a dashing, vivacious manner.

$2,450,000 For Navy Yard Asked

Congress Asked For Appropriation to Repair Teredo Damage at Navy Yard.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—President Harding asked Congress today to include in the navy bill for next year a supplemental appropriation of $2,450,000, for use in counteracting damage caused by teredo, a wood-killing worm at Mare Island navy yard, California.

The fund is needed, Secretary Denby reported to the President, for rebuilding walls and quay walls and the maintenance of dikes and dredging.

When the original estimate of $350,000 was presented it was thought the amount would be ample, the secretary said, to offset damage to waterfront structures by the teredo insect, but recent reports indicate the damage was progressing and was far greater than previously known to exist.

If an accurate and the damaged structures repaired in the near future, the secretary said the forces now acting to destroy the dikes and waterfront improvements would be used in rebuilding the damaged structures, making the total cost far exceeding the amounts now required.

The President said that of the amount asked, $1,500,000 should be immediately available.

EX-CONVICT NOW N. Y. PRISON HEAD

Edward Morrell, Famous in Days of Evans and Sonntag, Gets High Post.

It is a far cry from a San Quentin dungeon to the directorship of the department of prisons in New York, but, according to recent reports from the East, Edward H. Morrell has accomplished this feat.

In the early 90s, when Evans and Sonntag, the train robbers, were at the height of their notoriety, Morrell first attracted attention.

Shortly after the arrest of Evans and the death of Sonntag in the mountains in the Sierrita region, where the pair had been kept for some time by the residents of Mussel Slough, Morrell became infatuated with Evans' daughter.

A plan was laid for the delivery of Evans from prison and it fell to Morrell to impersonate a waiter and eventually bring in a pair of pistols concealed under a napkin. The prison authorities discovered the pistols and Morrell was jailed. When Evans was sentenced to a straight term and spent the next five years in the dungeon.

Morrell next occupied the eye of the reading public when he was accused of engineering a wholesale deal in the sales tax or drop the bonus "Wood" before a House committee, to legislate for the independence of the islands, will leave Manila in April for the United States, the Philippines press bureau announced today.

Crisinger Announces He Will Advise National Banks Not To Advance Money On the Proposed Certificates

Republican Leaders of House Plan to Appeal to Harding For Final Expression On Measure to Aid Ex-Soldiers

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Controller of the Currency, Crisinger, announced today that in the event of the enactment of soldiers' bonus legislation providing for payment to ex-soldiers of certificates he would advise national banks to decline to accept the certificates as security for loans.

Crisinger described the proposed bonus as being adjusted service certificates for the soldiers. If desired, as collateral for loans to eighty per cent of their face value as "the worst kind of frozen credit," he said, while he would be without authority to accept the national banks to refuse to accept them as security, he would strongly advise against their acceptance.

CALIF. CERTIFICATES "NON-NEGOTIABLE."
The certificates would be "non-negotiable," Crisinger explained, and loans upon them would load the banks up for the three-year term which they cover, with an unmovable mass of security.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The over-troublesome soldier bonus measure, President Harding today as he went into the south for a seashore vacation.

Having been unable to reach the President yesterday while he was making arrangements for his departure, several Republican members of the House have decided to either send one of their number south to talk with President Harding or write a joint letter, in an effort to get complete and final action on the executive as to whether he will veto the loan certificate bonus bill now before the house.

Congressmen considering this measure are Representative Bachrach, New Jersey, and other sales tax advocates.

If the President should come out definitely against the certificate plan, the house would have to go back to a similar bill or drop the bonus altogether, they believe. They point out the President's repeated declaration that if a bonus bill has to be financed it must be through a sales tax.

S. F. TO ERECT UNIT OF ARROYO SANITARIUM

Building For Tubercular Patients From Across Bay to Revert Back to County.

Decision to permit San Francisco to erect a $100,000 unit to the Arroyo Sanitarium for the purpose of caring for fifty San Francisco patients was made by the Board of Supervisors today.

According to the agreement San Francisco, unable to care for its tubercular patients, will erect the building and for the next twenty-five years will have fifty beds at its disposal to be paid for at $2.57 per day.

Alameda county will maintain the new unit and will have the privilege of buying the unit at the end of the twenty-five years for the cost price less 4 per cent depreciation, or if the agreement is to run for a further period will get the unit free.

Over the vigorous protest of Supervisor Charles D. Hoyer the supervisors today awarded the bid on the $115,000 Livermore Union High school to Stevens & Co. on a "conditional" understanding for a premium of $14,727.50.

Hoyer took up the protest of the National City Company of San Francisco on the ground that it has been the rule of the board to make bidders take the bonds unconditionally and the bid should go to the San Francisco company, which offered a premium of $11,822.

Over the protest of Stevens & Co. to return the bonds after two weeks in the event that they find trouble selling them and the additional premium offered is not good business.

The members of the board, supported by the Livermore trustees, agreed that it would be to the interests of the county to break the rule and gain the lower premium.

The supervisors also selected Tuesday, March 28, as the day for the election of the five directors to the Alameda County Water district.

Sleuths Uncover Big Mexico-U. S. Kidnaping Plot

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—What is believed to be a huge international kidnaping plot has been uncovered in the investigation of two cases here by various state and federal agencies.

The other case reported is the frustration of an attempt to kidnap General Francisco Murguia living near here. One of the plotters disclosed the plan to Murguia and guards were thrown around his place.

No arrests have been made, although investigation is being made on both sides of the border.

MRS. OBENCHAIN TAKES STAND IN SLAYING TRIAL

Story of Life With Broker Is Told to Jury; Many Letters Missing.

mer of 1921, she corresponded from Los Angeles with Arthur Burch, her co-defendant, who was then in Chicago.

LETTERS IN TRUNK. Mrs. Obenchain said she also received two letters from Burch during that time and that these letters were, to the best of her belief, in her trunk at the Alexandria Hotel when she was arrested after the shooting. She said she never had seen them since. These were not offered in evidence by the state and the defense then began to try to prove their contents by Mrs. Obenchain's evidence.

This attempt precipitated a heated wrangle between the attorneys which Judge Reeve halted by excluding the jury until 2 o'clock and then letting the attorneys discuss the advisability of the evidence in the absence of the jury.

Mrs. Obenchain said her letters to Burch told him of the "slandering" statements Mrs. Kennedy was reported to have made about her to Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Demond. An effort to prove the contents of these letters also was being made.

Mrs. Obenchain, in testifying of her correspondence with Burch, said she was at that time in friendly relations with the Burch family and with Burch himself, but had never been Burch's sweetheart, or his hers. She said she knew that Burch intended coming to Los Angeles during the summer of 1921, but did not know the exact date.

It was at this point that the evidence was halted and the jury excused. It was expected by counsel that the court would also rule on the admissibility of the first letter, the defense had sought to offer, which had been left undecided.

HERE IS LETTER. The letter which brought tears to Mrs. Obenchain when it was read by her attorney was as follows: "Dear Talansha: How beautifully you have remembered me, Madalynne. Everything you have ever done for me will always be cherished. Do not think me cold, ungrateful. As no, 'tis only that I wander in the dark and oh, Madalynne, I cannot see the light. I know it lives, but the darkness is smothering, smothering me. If only I can lift the black mantle away and up from my shoulders and step out into the glorious days. Can you not hear the cries far, far out on the desert's yellow sands where the blood red sun is dipping now to sleep.

"God bless you Talansha. "TALANSHONE." Counsel had presented to the court their views on the admissibility of evidence. It was discovered that no direct offer in evidence was made by the defense of the letter that brought tears to Mrs. Obenchain's eyes. The defense cleared the matter up by stating that as it already had been read to the jury no

CHOCTAW INDIANS FACE STARVATION IN OKLAHOMA

Report Made by Investigators Shows Tribes to Be in a Deplorable Condition.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., March 9.—

Fourteen hundred members of the Choctaw Indian tribe residing in the state of Mississippi are in a deplorable condition, in the opinion of Peter J. Hudson of Tusahoma, member of the Oklahoma Choctaw tribe, who has returned from a month's mission among the Mississippi Indians. Hudson and the late Monsigneur W. H. Ketchum of Oklahoma City were delegated by Indian Commissioner Burke to make an investigation of the condition of the tribe in that state. Monsigneur Ketchum died suddenly at Philadelphia, Miss., while engaged in the work.

The 1400 Mississippi Choctaws are divided into ten clans and they are constantly quarrelling, according to Hudson. Originally their ancestors were members of the Choctaw tribe that migrated to Indian territory in the early 30's. They have made no progressive steps in the past 100 years, Hudson says, and he declares their greatest need is education. Their sole occupation is farming, and as such they are tenant farmers of whites.

"I am firmly convinced that by education alone can the customs and barriers of a hundred years' standing be broken," says Mr. Hudson. "To impress the Choctaws with the responsibilities of citizenship. Today they exercise no right of franchise and are NOT on terms of social equality with the white citizens of Mississippi."

It would require many years to bring about the education of the young Choctaws of Mississippi.

Sixty Years Ago Monitor Fought; Honor Designer

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 9.—Sixty years ago this morning the Confederate ironclad Merrimack steamed away from her anchorage in Hampton Roads to attack what was expected to be a defenseless Union fleet. Instead she met the Monitor, later called the "Yankee chessbox on a raft," and engaged in the first battle between ironclads, which changed the whole naval strategy of the world and which has been described as the most momentous sea engagement ever fought.

Today the cities of New York and Stockholm, Sweden, united in doing honor to the memory of John Ericsson, who designed the Monitor.

A tablet was unveiled under the auspices of the American Society of Swedish Engineers at the house of 36 Beach street where Ericsson lived, and later another tablet was unveiled at 260 West street, the site of the Phoenix foundry, where parts for the Monitor were turned out, and where Ericsson spent his last active years. The latter ceremony was in charge of the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen.

The Phoenix foundry made the iron pipe carrying water from the old Croton Aqueduct to New York city and built the first iron and screw steamers.

YARD CAN CARE FOR DESTROYERS

Special to The TRIBUNE.

VALLEJO, March 9.—It was stated today by Admiral J. S. McKean, commander of the Mare Island navy yard, that 145 destroyers out of commission can be cared for at Mare Island within the next three months.

Within one month it will be possible to furnish accommodations for 48.

These estimates were made by Captain L. M. Cox and Captain J. M. Reeves.

The information was given in response to a telegram sent to the navy department by the Vallejo Chamber of Commerce and the Mare Island commander.

It is stated that 100 destroyers are now ready for decommissioning—42 on the Pacific coast and 58 on the Atlantic coast. It was at first planned to send the decommissioned destroyers to San Pedro, but that there were not facilities for handling all of them at that place.

It was also announced today that an appropriation of $10,000 had been asked to move the lumber yard from the north end of the navy yard to the south end of the yard to make room for four houses. These houses are to be erected soon for the accommodation of men now on duty at the navy yard.

Because Jason D. Michelson is to undergo a capital operation in the county hospital which may cost him his life, Police Judge Mortimer Smith today continued his case for arraignment on a statutory offense until March 18.

The report of his physical condition was made to the court by Balliff Harry Gilbert. Michelson is one of the youths who is alleged to have assaulted Violet French, 16-year-old school girl during the early part of September.

He is suffering from a gun shot wound which he received when he and two other companions attempted to hold up the Lincoln Park Pharmacy in Alameda. His two pals, Purnell Knudsen and Benjamin Jefferys, were held to answer in the superior court on a charge of robbery. They are also charged with attacking the French girl, and the warrants will be served on them today.

INDIA SECRETARY RESIGNS IN ROW OVER TURK RULE

Position of English Government Is Made Difficult By Facts Bared By Official.

By ED L. KEEN,
United Press Staff Correspondent.
LONDON, March 8.—Edwin Samuel Montagu, secretary of state for India, has resigned as a result of the recommendations of the Indian government relatively to Turkey, it was announced today.

Austen Chamberlain, government leader in the House of Commons, intimated that the Indian secretary's resignation was due to publication of the Indian government's manifesto which conflicted with the cabinet policy.

The cabinet, he indicated, had not sanctioned publication.

The resignation of the Indian secretary came at a moment when the Lloyd George ministry, of which he has been a member since 1917, was shaky. It has been political gossip for some time that if Montagu fell the government might go with him.

The proposals of the Indian government, contained in a despatch from Lord Reading, the viceroy, were for allied evacuation of Constantinople, suzerainty of the Sultan over the holy places of Islam and restoration of Thrace, Adrianople and Smyrna to the Ottoman Empire. They come as a shock to the government on the eve of the allied conference at Paris regarding Near East affairs. The House of Commons will probably debate the recommendations tonight.

The Indian government has urged:

1.—British evacuation of Constantinople.
2.—Suzerainty of the Sultan over the holy places.

3.—Restoration of the Ottoman Empire of Thrace, including Adrianople and Smyrna.

The object of these recommendations, which were made in a despatch from Lord Reading, viceroy of India, to Edwin S. Montagu, secretary of state for India, is to mollify Mohammedan feeling in the Near East. The despatch, which was made public over the head of the home government, declares fulfillment of these points is of greatest importance in India. The Indian demands have already caused the greatest embarrassment to the British government and will continue to do so in view of the allied conference on Near East matters, which is to meet in Paris, March 22.

GERMANS FEAR PRICE RISE IN TRAVEL INFLUX

BERLIN, March 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—An announcement that 300,000 Americans have booked passage to Europe for this summer prompts the German newspapers to hint that the fact that Germans will be compelled to abandon their plans to spend their vacations at seaside and other resorts because the incursion of foreigners will cause a rise in prices for accommodations beyond the capacity of the native purse.

Reds Reassert Rule Of Russian Trade

MOSCOW, March 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Soviet Russia's economic retreat has ended and will go no further in its concessions to capitalism, Nikolai Lenin told the congress of metal workers in a brief speech discussing the Genoa conference and Russia's internal problems. Simultaneously Leonid Krassin, in an interview with the newspaper Izvestia declared that soviet Russia would not abandon her control of foreign trade.

The Soviet premier appeared refreshed after his sojourn in the country. He said he had been unable to do all his necessary work because of illness, but now he hoped he was sufficiently recovered to be able to go to Genoa "and tell Mr. Lloyd George it is no use to threaten Russia with things like probation."

He declared Russia had been tried and tested by more serious things during the last few years and knew that these were idle threats not to be carried out. He said he would be able to show the premiers at the Genoa conference, whose principal purpose was trade with Russia, many important trade contracts already signed on Russia's terms.

"Attempts to put us in the position of a conquered country are nonsense," he said. "We, as merchants, know what we owe you and what you owe us, and also what should be your lawful profit."

YOUTH REPRIEVED.
COLUMBUS, O., March 8.—Sam Tupper, 18-year-old Cleveland youth who was to have died in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary early tomorrow for participation in the Sly-Fanner payroll robbery and murders at Cleveland, December 21, 1920, was granted a sixty-day reprieve by Governor Davis last night.

Mexico Exceeds U. S. In Silver Production

MEXICO CITY, March 8.—Mexico produced 38.8 per cent of the total world production of silver in 1921 and the United States in the same period produced only 7.1 per cent of the world total of 181,000,000 ounces, says the American Chamber of Commerce of Mexico.

The year 1921 was classed as a bad year in silver mining, due to the low market price of the metal, but despite this condition more than 62,000,000 ounces were taken from Mexican mines.

Due to the revival of mining activity in Mexico during the closing months of 1921 and the reopening of mines in all parts of the country, the chamber expects that the Mexican production of 1922 will greatly exceed that of last year.

History gives ample proof of the high order of culture attained by the ancient Chaldeans.

$950,000 Worth of Publicity Given Bible

CINCINNATI, O., March 8.—Secular newspapers using the service of the Back to the Bible Bureau, which has headquarters here, have given without charge over $950,000 worth of space for the publication of Scripture, according to Addison Y.

Reid, secretary of the bureau. "The response from the newspapers is amazing," he says. Reid reports that the combined circulation of the more than 900 papers using the service exceeds 10,000,000. One of the first large dailies to carry a Bible selection free has printed one at the head of its editorial column daily since September 7, 1920, records show.

AMERICANIZATION WORK IN SCHOOLS IS TOLD TO CLUB

Fred Anderson Tells of Results Accomplished and Urges Support.

Fred Anderson, director of Americanization for the Oakland schools, spoke yesterday at the weekly luncheon of the Progressive Business Men's Club at the Hotel Oakland. He declared that the citizens of Oakland are too busy to give the Americanization movement much thought, and that more consideration and more time should be given to the work in order to accomplish its purposes. He said:

"It is vital for our future welfare that we give the work of Americanization as much thought as we can now, for the generation that is coming on will be the citizens of this country tomorrow."

He urged co-operation from all clubs and organizations, and from citizens who can give some time to the work.

No Close Dancing Or Fremont High Will Close Dances

When the Fremont high school pupils dance hereafter there must be no more "button polishing" and "desert hops," better known as the "camel walk," Principal Harris G. Brasfield has decided. The "Fremont position" calls for an inch or so of space between the dancers, and if this rule is not kept there will be no dancing. It is understood that several measures were taken at a recent dance and, as a consequence of what they saw, they had a conference with Principal Brasfield. His order followed.

To make sure that all will understand the "Fremont position," Miss Elsie Moorhead, dancing teacher, has been selected to interpret the position and to teach the young folk how to dance that way. The next dance will be on Friday evening, March 17. It is expected that a delegation of mothers will be on hand to watch the affair. The dance will be preceded by a theater party in the school auditorium, given by the Jesters' Workshop, the dramatic class of the school. The plays to be presented will include "Hearts to Mend," "The Hour Glass" and "The Pot Boiled."

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—The will of Mary Emille Parrott, widow of the late John Parrott, disposing of an estate amounting approximately to $4,000,000, is on file today at Redwood City. The document was signed March 7, 1918. Mrs. Parrott died March 1. Since the will was signed Mrs. Parrott's husband and three sons have died. Two of the boys died in service, while the third was killed in an automobile accident.

The executors of the will are directed to divide the estate into equal parts for distribution among the remaining seven children in the family. Any of the children under thirty years of age are to receive the income from their share of the estate until they reach that age. Mrs. Parrott's income, jewels and personal possessions, according to the will, are to be distributed among the children within thirty days.

The principal speaker of the evening will be H. S. Henion, attorney.

Too Ill to Wed, Preacher Lives To Age of 100

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 9.—The death of Rev. Peter McNab at York, a small village in Livingston county, ended a romance with few parallels.

Rev. McNab on January 5 last celebrated his one hundredth birthday. Next April 4, if she lives, the sweetheart of his youth, Miss Charlotte Walker, also of York, will celebrate her 100th birthday. Their marriage, planned in early life, was postponed and eventually abandoned because of McNab's ill health. They remained intimate friends through their lives, however.

McNab's health became impaired shortly after he had entered the ministry of the United Presbyterian church, and he did not recover for twenty years.

Fight On Over Price For "Four Horsemen"

Negotiations are in progress today for the recovery of the motion picture film, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," which was seized by the owners yesterday from the American theater, where the picture was being shown. Refusal on the part of the theater management to advance the scale of admission prices was given as the cause of the seizure.

According to the film producers the picture will not be produced in Oakland at reduced prices, but the American management maintains that its contracts call for the presentation of "The Four Horsemen" at the regular American scale of prices and today's negotiations will decide whether or not the film will be shown here next week as has been announced.

The showing of the picture at the theater was discontinued for about two hours last night after the film was seized. However, a restraining order was secured by the theater management, and after this delay the performance went on without further interruption.

The program substituted for the remainder of the week is "A Certain Rich Man" and "Keeping Up With Lizzie," with Landers Stevens, former Oakland favorite.

STANFORD PLAY IS BIG SUCCESS

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 9.—A big hit was scored by "If I Were Kings," annual play of the Stanford English Club, presented in the Stanford Assembly Hall last night. With a cast of fifty and elaborate scenery the production was declared to be one of the most ambitious undertaken by a Stanford dramatic organization.

Lester Seib, in the role of Francis Villon, the vagabond poet, was the star of the production. Seib's work in this play was acclaimed the best of his many successes on the local stage.

Miss Helen Whitney of Berkeley, who played the part of Hugueley, made the best of her first opportunity as a leading woman on the Stanford stage. Her work in the emotional scene in the third act was particularly good. Violet Andrews, playing the part of Lady Katherine, handled the other important feminine part well.

A feature of the production was a dance in the rose gardens of King Louis XI. The parts of the dancing girls were taken by Helen Carmen, Helen Harris, Dorothy Marston and Dorothy Gardiner.

SURGERY WITH PENKNIFE SAVES LIFE OF INFANT

CINCINNATI, O., March 9.—Surgery with a penknife yesterday saved the life of 2-year-old John Washington, who was taken to a Cincinnati hospital with a peanut lodged in his windpipe, causing strangulation. The child had stopped breathing when Dr. C. C. Payne arrived at the ward last night.

Realizing that death would ensue before he could send for surgical instruments, Dr. Payne took his penknife, slit open the boy's throat and incised the trachea just below where the peanut was lodged. This permitted the passage of air and the child soon was revived. Later the peanut was removed.

The doctor explained that had he waited until a surgical knife was obtained from one of the surgical wards the boy would have died.

Irish Republicans

Plan U. S. Campaign

DUBLIN, March 9.—(By International News Service.)—Austin Stack and J. J. Kelly, emissaries of Eamon de Valera, have been ordered to the United States to conduct a publicity campaign in behalf of the Irish republic. It was learned today. They will attempt to offset the efforts of James O'Mara and Sean McCollis, who are to work for the Irish free state in America.

BELFAST, March 9.—The list of victims in the disorders prevalent in this city since last Saturday was brought up to 12 today when a man died from wounds received Tuesday.

LIMERICK, Ireland, March 9.—This city remains quiet and hope is growing that a clash between the loyal troops of the Irish republican army and the revolting Limerick and Tipperary battalions will be averted. A wavering Limerick brigade that the rebels were trying to get to join them has united with the loyal troops supporting Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith.

The American Relief association is feeding 1,300,000 children in Poland.

Radio Hero Laughs at Death as Ship Founders

NEW YORK, March 9.—Efforts were being made today to learn the name of the new court jester in the kingdom of Davy Jones.

He was the wireless operator on the freighter Grontoft, who perished at sea last Thursday when the vessel foundered in a 110 mile gale off Cape Race.

With the Grontoft sliding beneath the waves, the operator jested and laughed at death in his prologues to the messages for help sent out by the captain. The Grontoft carried a crew of thirty and all are believed to have perished.

The record of the operator's utter disregard of the seriousness of death was contained in the log of the Danish steamer Estonia, Captain Hans Jorgensen, which made port today after an unsuccessful attempt to reach the Grontoft before it foundered.

DEATH A JOKE. Each detail of the ship's plight, such call for aid, was supplemented by the jesting comment of the radio man, whose identity is still unknown. He talked as if he were going on a lark in port, instead of to the bottom of the sea. His last message, a disjointed one, was a series of witticisms with death as the butt of the joke.

The Estonia, herself hard hit in the 110-mile gale, made a valiant but unsuccessful effort to reach the Grontoft, which first sent out calls for aid at 10 o'clock last Thursday morning, reporting her position as about 700 miles east of Cape Race.

The Estonia at that time was 45 miles west of the disabled Norwegian and steaming in an opposite direction. Captain Hans Jorgensen ordered his ship about and she steamed slowly toward the Grontoft.

GOING ON PICNIC. Meanwhile Radio Operator Hansen, engaged the operator of the Grontoft in conversation. The latter sent out first the following—stereotyped irony of the seas:

"God pity the poor sailors on a night like this." Then followed a series of "ha ha," "and say," he continued, "the old man thinks this calm will be over by nightfall. We sure need some breeze."

An hour later the urgent call for aid was sent out by the Grontoft, and her operator jested again:

"Well, the steward is making sandwiches for the lifeboats. Looks like we were going on a picnic."

After a half hour later he sent: "The old wagon has a flat like a run down heel. This is no weather for a fellow to be out in without an umbrella."

"Hold on," returned the Estonia's wireless, "we'll be alongside soon." The Grontoft did not reply until forty minutes later. Then:

"We are sinking stern first. The boats are smashed. Can't hold out any longer."

IN A HURRY, CAN'T WAIT. "The skipper dictated that—he ought to know—where did I put my hat—sorry we can't wait for you, pressing business elsewhere—"

The Estonia's operator quoted in reply these lines:

What dam of lances brought thee forth
To test at dawn with death?
But there was no answer.

Six hours after picking up the first call from the Grontoft, the Estonia reached her appointed position, although she cruised about for four hours, failed to find even a trace of wreckage.

The Grontoft, from Galveston, New Orleans and Norfolk, was en route for Esbjerg. She had a crew of thirty.

MEXICO CITY, March 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Adolfo de La Huerta, secretary of the treasury, will leave for Sonora next week to take over the state government of which he has been nominal governor. It is intimated that his trip to Sonora will prevent any immediate visit to New York city.

Negotiations with United States bankers are in such an indefinite stage that any absolute settlement of the question of Mexico's foreign debt must be deferred at least temporarily. De La Huerta will allow the situation to remain as it is until he completes his work as governor of Sonora. He has been on a leave of absence while performing his duties as cabinet officer, but this leave expires on March 20, and details as to the selection of his successor as governor must be attended to.

During his absence the treasury department will be under the direction of Salvador Urbina, under-secretary.

DEEP SEA DIVER OWES HIS LIFE TO GUINEA PIG

NEW YORK, March 9.—Torres Olson, deep sea diver, who is recovering on the U. S. S. Falcon, in Brooklyn navy yard, from a case of "bends" suffered last Friday when he rose too rapidly from a 100-foot dive, owes his life to a guinea pig.

Six years ago Captain C. L. Tibbals, of the Falcon, experimenting with a guinea pig, perfected a recompression tank in which persons suffering from "bends"—caused by expansion of air bubbles in the blood vessels—could be placed under atmospheric pressure and gradually returned to their normal state.

Olson, an experienced diving tugs, was placed in the recompression tank and subjected to a pressure of fifty pounds per square inch, the same pressure as in 120 feet of water, or slightly more than the depth at which he was working.

Within half an hour he was standing up, and in three-quarters of an hour his body, which had been paralyzed, began to function again.

The pressure in the tank was gradually lessened and Olson's pulse and blood pressure slowly returned to normal. He is expected to be fully recovered in a few days.

Ambergris Find in Honolulu Is Told

HONOLULU, T. H., March 9.—A gift of the sea—80 pounds of a substance believed to be ambergris—came recently to Harry Plunkett, keeper of a lighthouse at a lonely spot called Kalea point, on the most southerly tip of the island of Hawaii, and has been sent to New York for chemical analysis.

Plunkett said that shortly after he discovered the mass on the rocks below his lighthouse a dead whale was thrown up on the shore and some substance similar to that which he had discovered was found in the mammal.

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure and Eat Less Meat.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Epsom Salts, put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folk who are subject to rheumatism.—Advertisement.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns
Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Advertisement.

TRIBUNE TO RUN DAILY COURSE OF RADIO LECTURES

Expert to Furnish Series of Instructive Articles For Wireless Amateurs.

Beginning on Thursday, March 13, the TRIBUNE will publish daily a series of radio articles for amateurs, prepared by Edward M. Davis, former technical electrical expert for the United States Government. The series will be published under the heading: "Fifteen Minutes of Radio Daily," and will provide a clear understanding of the fundamentals of radio telegraphy and telephony and, step by step, will explain the varied functions of the present day commercial apparatus.

Realizing the increased interest in radio development, the TRIBUNE secured these articles for the consumption of the thousands of radio fans that are listening in on the TRIBUNE's radio news bulletins, broadcasted every evening, except Sunday, from the station on the Hotel Oakland, conducted by Preston D. Allen.

The radio phone is finding its way into thousands of homes. Receiving sets are constructed by amateurs and furnished to friends who have not the slightest knowledge of their construction, and who have only a vague knowledge of their operation. If anything goes wrong, they must call in the man who constructed it. It is for the purpose of familiarizing the thousands of amateurs with the essential points of the radio phone in order that they may understand its construction and proper operation that the TRIBUNE secured these articles.

JAPANESE GIRLS SHOW DESIRE TO BECOME SLEUTHS

TOKYO, March 9.—Many progressive young Japanese women aspire to become detectives, says the Yomato in a recent resume of activities of self-supporting women. On the average two dozen women apply at a certain local detective bureau each month seeking employment as "sleuths." The bureau points with pride to two shining exponents of the profession, Miss Yukioka Nishida and Miss Tsuruko Sato, through whose efforts many difficult cases have been solved.

The majority of employed girls are in factories, about 65,000 of these working in Tokyo. Out of 317 factories investigated by the City Social Bureau, in 28 the girls were found working more than 12 hours a day. The average wage is Y.25.15 a month.

About 2000 women make a living teaching "nagauta" singing to Japanese music of the shamisen. These make an income of about Y.100 a month.

Bus conductors are those most noticeable to foreigners in Tokyo. They number about 150. Others better educated gain the better positions in the company as office clerks or inspectors.

There is always a shortage of telephone girls, 5000 being required by the 15 exchanges in the city. Girl employees have proved of great usefulness in the railway offices as ticket sellers. They get up to Y.60 salary. Those employed as shop girls in big department stores receive Y.30. The largest department store employs as many as 500.

The largest income is commanded by the hair dressers. Those in high class geisha quarters receive as much as Y.1000 monthly, and those of the poorer districts Y.200.

About 1500 girls are employed as ushers in theaters and moving picture shows.

There are teachers, doctors, seamstresses, nurses, professional investigators graduated from the foreign music academy, journalists, magazine writers and painters. To these may be added in the country the woman horse conductor and the girl who dives for shell-fish.

Efforts to Educate Peasants Finds Many Obstacles Put in Teachers' Way.

JAFFA, Palestine, March 9.—The British administration in Palestine is trying to stamp out some of the peculiar superstitions of the fellahs (peasants) and has appointed a committee of district governors to advise it as to the best method of attaining that purpose.

After four years of occupation the authorities are beginning to realize that superstition plays an important role in keeping the peasants in ignorance.

Some of the native beliefs are very interesting. One government official discovered that he had transgressed a tradition the other day when he stepped over a baby's cat as he crossed a village street.

His action was noticed by a group of women, who halted him and told him he would have to retrace his steps or the baby would surely die. As their attitude was menacing, he did so to save himself from attack.

LOSERS LUNCH.
The same official on another occasion was invited to take lunch with the Moukhtar (head of a village). As he entered the guest chamber he stumbled and fell headlong on the floor. The host told him that his falling was sure to bring bad luck to the village unless he saw fit to forgo the lunch.

It is a common practice for girls to visit Willies' (prophets) tombs and lay there pieces of their garments, believing that by so doing they are sure to get married soon. Sometimes they go without food or drink for seven days for the same purpose.

WALK ON GRAVES.

Married women who have no children, trying to avoid divorce, go to cemeteries and walk over children's tombs in order to have some of their own. Often, to be blessed with children, they go to mosques, walk seven times around the building and then smash an egg in the gateway. These are only a few of the old customs which are commonly practiced by the fellahs and which the government is anxious to destroy.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(By International News Service.)—The Senate today granted the Judiciary committee an extension of time in which to consider the constitutional eligibility of Senator Smoot of Utah and Representative Burton, Republican, of Ohio, to serve on the world war debt commission, to which they were appointed by President Harding.

The Senate's action was taken at the request of Senator Nelson, Republican, of Minnesota, the committee chairman, after the committee failed to reach a conclusion on the matter and decided to adjourn until Wednesday before taking a final vote.

LONDON, March 9.—The wedding of Viscount Grey of Palladin and Lady Glenconagh which was fixed for a date near Easter has been postponed according to the Daily Mail, in consequence of the operation which Viscount Grey underwent. His condition is reported by the physicians as satisfactory.

Oakland Parks May Get Sequoia Trees

The board of park directors has accepted the offer of fifty Sequoia Giganteus from the Monterey Tree Planting club for Oakland's parks. The Monterey citizens first tendered these trees to be planted as memorials, but Oakland objected to a "tomestone effect" in its park and suggested that the trees come as trees. This is tentatively agreed to, and Monterey is willing to send fifty other evergreens of assorted sizes and species. They are about eight feet high and now growing in flower pots and tin cans.

SYMPHONY DRAWS LARGER AUDIENCE

By ROY HARRISON DANFORTH.

Apparently the San Francisco Symphony orchestra has hit its stride at Berkeley. The audience at Harmon gymnasium last evening ran its predecessor several hundred better, quite outdistancing the poor paltry attendance of last year. Perhaps it is the sort of programs Alfred Hertz is offering; perhaps, the increased fee that continued familiarity breeds. But for any reason, the College City need no longer be ashamed of its response to the most notable offerings in ensemble music we have in the West.

The beauty of Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony" added its magic to last evening. The work itself will never go a-begging, and Hertz strives successfully to present its charm. His hand played it this time in what seemed almost a reverential spirit. Many symphonies surpass it in intricacy, yet it offers so wide a hope for individual interpretation that one cannot blame Hertz or any conductor for taking pride in its adequate presentation. There was an insistent loudness last evening in those tutti passages which so often punctuate the work's continuity. Sometime we should like to see it played with these dropped several degrees below fortissimo. At least it would be an interesting experiment. Playing them as he did Hertz was, however, far from committing a blunder: it is the conventional megalomania of the audience.

Eight Russian folk tunes by Liadov were the other bright moments of the program. They were a row of exquisite miniatures, not strung together, not coherent, yet none the less charming for their detachment. Even Hertz's baton uplifted in the brief interludes between them could hardly prevent the spontaneous approval of the audience.

Weber's "Jubel Overture" was played, a showy piece but without a handful of real musical ideas in all of it. Massenet's "Le Cid" suite, previously given here once, was enjoyed again. That sweetmeat, "Poet and Pensant" overture, was relished as a closing number. Rimsky-Korsakov's ballet, "Scheherazade" will be the chief offering next Wednesday night.

High Twelve is a noon luncheon club, its object being to unite all the members of Masonry in the happy bonds of a social hour and program, to inspire and encourage the practice of those virtues which will aid in civic betterment in successful home-making, in upholding the principles of good government and in the advancement of education and in honorable living.

$3000 IS RAISED IN ONE PER CENT DRIVE IN CITY

$60,000 Is Sought to Aid Family Men Who Are Out of Employment.

With $60,000 set as the mark for the "one per cent drive" being conducted by the citizens' emergency employment and relief committee, nearly $3000 has been collected up to the present.

This was made known in a report of the various teams to the general committee at a luncheon in the Hotel Oakland yesterday. This amount represents cash and not pledges.

According to the reports, the Rotary club collected $810.87, the Lions club $675, the Kiwanis $316.20, the Electric club $88.50, the Business Development League nothing, the Y. M. C. A. $622.48, the Optimists nothing, the Specialty Salesmen $3, the Progressive Business club $190, the Knights of Columbus nothing, the Mutual Business club nothing, the Advertising club $402.50 and the Apartment House Owners' association $162.50.

Before the reports were made by the various captains, Thomas Eaglesome, chairman of the citizens' committee, denied rumors that the committee is "responsible for handling a lot of boys and bringing in 'flats' from all over."

RUMORS DENIED.

"These statements now being circulated are absolutely false," said Eaglesome. "The committee has nothing to do with the general registration. When the committee took charge there were practically 1850 men of family registered at the woodward. All of these cases had been investigated before registration."

"I do not say that we would not extend help to someone who came from another city. On the contrary, if a man comes here from Los Angeles and finds himself and his family stranded he certainly should be helped."

Oliver Kehrein, chairman of the finance committee, reported to the general committee that he has received more than $2100 since February 23. His report shows February 23, $852; March 2, $562; March 3, $243; March 5 and 6, $591; March 7, $315, and March 8, $368.

OAKLAND C. OF C. TO AID CAPITAL 'DAYS OF '49' FETE

Irving Kahn to Attend Dinner to Consider Plans for Big Celebration.

Irving S. Kahn, acting as a representative of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, will go to Sacramento next Saturday night to attend a meeting to be held by the chamber of commerce of that city to consider plans for the "Days of '49" celebration to be held in Sacramento from May 23 to May 28.

The Oakland Chamber of Commerce has been invited to aid in making the event successful.

According to A. S. Dudley, secretary-manager of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce, one of the purposes of the "Days of '49" week will be to demonstrate "how it will be possible for a community to obtain the greatest amount of advertising as a result of the thousands of dollars we are spending nationally in publicity."

It is planned during the celebration to have the male citizens of Sacramento dress as the pioneers did.

Neighbors Sweetened By Honey Grower

OMAHA, Neb., March 9.—Success as a beekeeper is attributed to "being in good standing with my neighbors" as a result of sweetening their disposition toward the bees, by Henry Clay ("Honey") Cook, retired policeman of this city.

"When the honey is first taken off I give near neighbors a generous sample and always send the finest I have," says Cook, who explains that the policy makes them good boosters. Cook's bees yield him from $1200 to $1400 a year.

was made throughout the meeting, and another meeting was called for next Monday, when it is expected that the entire district will have been canvassed and the $60,000 assured.

The money is to be used in providing work for the men of family registered at the woodward, according to announcements of the committee. The men will be employed on public work and will be paid $2.50 for two days each week.

STARLIGHT

Virginia Fairfax, an orphan, rebel-ious daughter of one of the first families of Virginia, tells her story, "Starlight," of her intense feelings against the rigid sixteenth century conventions of their little town and the tyranny of her grandfather, who adopted her when her parents died. Virginia confides to Naomi that she intends to run away from home to escape the tyrannical rule of her grandfather and to become a motion picture actress. Aided by her aunt, Virginia safely reaches Los Angeles and stops at a big hotel. She goes shopping with a large wardrobe and a depleted pocketbook. In the lobby of the hotel she got into conversation with a girl in the movie. The girl pruned her beauty, Virginia, by chance, meets a movie girl. Her new friend explains the pitfalls of movie-dom. She invites Virginia to share her apartment. Virginia and her newly found friend exchanged names. George, Saunders was named Maggie Smith, but that name was unknown in Los Angeles. Virginia—this to her friends—was a jolly companion, but she was not a jolly companion. She went to go to Virginia's apartment. She introduced Virginia to a charming two-room apartment with "beautiful features." Virginia found a splendid companion who spoke Hollywood slang from habit, but she could drop it at will. Rita had a unique philosophy born of hard knocks. It was "Today is another day." Rita was Virginia's pressure to seek work. Rita tells Virginia many important points about getting a position. They enter the Service Bureau. The very handsome man started fixedly at Rita. Virginia turned to see a look of hatred and contempt on Rita's face. Rita didn't understand.

SEEKING A JOB.

old man, she was a wonder! I turned just in time to see Mr. Ballantyne shrug his shoulders and frown as though resenting the speech.

"You're in luck," said Rita as she joined me a moment later. "He never asked your price. That means seven fifty more and more than likely ten or better. I bet you will be called very soon."

"You didn't tell me that he would ask me whether I had had any experience, Rita."

"Oh, I forgot that. You were a goose to tell him that you had none." "But I couldn't lie."

"Well, perhaps they would have found out anyway, but you must remember that a few judicious lies placed carefully now and then help a lot in this business."

"Now, Virgie, we will go home and get your clothes and have your real pictures taken."

The whole afternoon was spent posing. I never was so tired in my life and I wondered, when the ordeal was over, if making pictures for the screen was anything like that. Rita said nothing about the little episode with the handsome man at the Service Bureau, but that night after our dinner—which consisted of the remains of the steak, hashed with potatoes, and some more ice cream, of which I found Rita was inordinately fond—she turned to me suddenly and said:

"Did you see Herbert Richardson today?"

"Where—at the photograph shop?"

"No. At the Service Bureau."

"Oh, you mean the man who stood behind Mr. Ballantyne?"

"Yes. What did you think of him?"

"I thought he was the handsomest man I had ever seen."

"That makes it unanimous."

"Is he a motion picture star?"

"No. He is just a man around with moving picture people."

"He looked as though he knew you."

"Oh, he knows me, all right."

"What is the matter? Did you quarrel with him? I was quite taken with him."

"So was I—once."

"Tell me about it."

"He is just a yellow dog, that's all."

"Well, from the look he gave you, Rita, I should say that he knows your opinion of him."

"He does. I told him."

"It is too bad, isn't it, that he is so good looking?"

"Yes. It has spoiled his chance of being anything real and has caused many a girl to weep her eyes out."

I looked at Rita.

"Oh, you needn't look at me like that. I am willing to own up that I was one of those who wept and what makes me so ripping mad is the fact that I haven't got over weeping yet."

"You don't mean you care for him, Rita?"

"Yes—no—oh, I don't know whether I do or not. When he gives me one of those nasty, sneering looks, like the one you saw this morning, I want to murder him. And yet I am not sure that he is wholly to blame. You see, the women have made so much of him. Why, my dear, there was a rich old woman last winter who carted him around to every society function in Los Angeles and showered him with jewels which he could have purchased himself, and insisted upon paying his bills when he had money to burn."

"Why did he do a thing like that?"

"Because he flattered him. Flattery has become the one thing without which Herb Richardson cannot live."

"And he kept the jewels?"

"No. This is one of them." And she stuck out a dimpled hand on which a platinum and diamond ring sparkled.

HOSPITALS TAKE SALOON'S PLACE, CLAIMS SOLON

BOSTON, March 9.—The passing of barrooms and social clubs that had liquor licenses has been followed by the opening of private hospitals which serve the same purpose, it was asserted at an executive hearing today.

George F. Murphy, former representative, appearing in support of a bill for the licensing and supervision of all private hospitals, declared that many new private hospitals and social clubs had already appeared and that proprietors of near-by saloons who believe they will soon be regulated out of existence were talking of having their places converted into "private hospitals."

Flamingoes, beautiful birds which breed in the Bahama islands, are in danger of becoming extinct.

Will Hurry Study Of Dying Races

HONOLULU, March 8.—(By Mail)—Study of the dying races of the Pacific will be begun immediately because "some of the peoples, in their primitive forms, are dying out and we must get them before the last vestiges of their racial characteristics are submerged by the mingling of races," Dr. H. E. Gregory, director of the Bishop Museum here, announced on his return from a visit to Washington as unofficial geographic adviser to the limitations armament delegates.

The investigation of the primitive races will be coupled with study of geographical and geological phenomena of the ocean, he said.

"But we must go after the people first; before they disappear. The rocks will last indefinitely as far as our purposes are concerned, so that part of the work can wait," he declared.

Blankets will stay soft and fleecy washed this way, says famous woolen manufacturer

Lever Bros. Co.,
Cambridge, Mass.

Gentlemen:

We picked out several of our finest blankets and had them washed in Lux. Each blanket was given the number of launderings it would normally receive.

The blankets were still soft and fleecy at the end of the washings. They showed no signs of yellowing or spotting and the colored stripes and fancy borders did not run.

There was a complete absence of the little balls of matted wool that make a blanket lumpy in texture. Washing with a strong soap will mat woollens in this way.

We attribute the satisfactory results we obtained with Lux only in part to the fact that its flake form does away with rubbing. Even more important to our minds is its absolute purity and mildness. It will cleanse the finest woolen with entire safety.

Very truly yours,

J. P. Russell

MARSHAL JOFFRE TO BE GUEST IN SPRECKELS HOME

Famous Frenchman to Find
Much in Palace to Remind Him of Home.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—When Field Marshal Joffre, hero of the Marne, arrives in San Francisco with his party on April 7 he will find in the home of his hosts, Mrs. A. B. Spreckels, a full-sized painting of himself, by the famous French portrait painter, Jacques-Louis David. This portrait was painted especially for Mrs. Spreckels and was purchased by her for installation in the "California Palace of the Legion of Honor," which is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Spreckels to the state and the city of San Francisco, and which is now in course of construction. The palace is an exact replica of the Paris Palace of the Legion of Honor, and it will commemorate for all time the heroism of the Californians who died in the great war.

Field Marshal Joffre will also plant a commemorative tree in front of the palace, next to the tree which was planted there by his successor, Field Marshal Foch, on his recent visit.

Mrs. Spreckels, who will be the hostess during Marshal Joffre's entire stay, is noted for the work she has done for France and for the French war orphans. On her last visit to France she was the guest of honor at an official reception arranged for her by the French government. She is also the owner of a splendid collection of French art, including the second largest collection of Rodin statuary in the world, "The Thinker," the most famous statue by the great French sculptor, was presented by Mrs. Spreckels to the city of San Francisco and now occupies a prominent place in Golden Gate park. Thus, when Marshal Joffre arrives at the palatial Washington street home, he will find in an atmosphere which will strongly remind him of his own home in "la belle France."

Mrs. Spreckels is the descendant of a noble French family, having been Miss Alma de Brettonville before she was married. The de Brettonville family were marquises in their own right in France and there is also a Danish branch of the family.

Silver Teas To Aid Loan Fund For U. of C. Co-eds

MISS LAURA PIKE, prominent in plans for benefit teas at university.

BERKELEY, March 9.—A musical program has been arranged for the entertainment of the guests at the silver teas to be given tomorrow at the Phi Mu, Alpha Xi Delta, and St. Margaret's house. Instrumental music by Helen Saylor, Caroline Dean, Alice Thomas and Dorethea Ullish will be furnished at two of the houses, while Eva Bradway will sing at the Phi Mu home. Miss Laura Pike is also aiding in plans.

Silver offerings will be left at the door of the houses to help swell the loan fund, which may be used by any woman student, whether or not she is working her way through college. It is primarily for short loans to the students when they need financial aid. No interest is charged until after graduation.

The teas are open to all interested in the purpose of the gatherings.

STATE TAXES ON INCOMES, INSTEAD OF REALTY, URGED

Publisher Explains Revision
Idea At Luncheon of Oakland Lions.

That the present tax system of California should be changed from a personal property tax to an individual income tax of approximately one-half of one per cent was the contention of Guy W. Wolf, editor and publisher of "Pacific Industries," who spoke at the luncheon of the Oakland Den of Lions yesterday, presided over by A. W. Moore.

Wolf contended that the present tax system prevented the expansion of public industries and industrial projects, as well as the building of homes. He declared that were the taxes of the public utilities, industries and businesses paid by the stockholders, instead of by the industry itself, the taxation would be more evenly distributed, for the income of the industry would be accounted for as it was distributed to the individual stockholders. He said in part:

The man who lives in an apartment house and who carries his worldly goods in a suit case escapes the personal property tax, while the man who receives the same salary and owns his own home pays.

Things we eat and wear should be taxed as lightly as possible, and especially the home, which is the surest incentive against radicalism and bolshevism. Tax on real property and improvements is not levied on the ability to pay. The poor man is hard hit. The slogan "Build Your Own Home" is steadily becoming a farce with the working man.

Wolf declared the personal income tax should be substituted for the present tax system, maintaining that the state government would receive the same amount of taxes and that the burden of taxation would be more evenly distributed among the people of the state. Under the plan he proposed there would be no exemptions; a stenographer receiving $300 a year would pay approximately $4.50, and the stockholder receiving in dividends several thousand, and likely a salary or other personal in-

Equal Rights for Men Demanded in Maryland Measure

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 9 (By the Associated Press).—Time-honored prerogatives enjoyed by women are menaced in a bill introduced in the legislature today by Senator Benjamin W. Fox of Baltimore. There shall be in the future "no laws passed giving any rights, benefits or preferences to women that are not guaranteed to members of the opposite sex," the measure decrees.

Designed to counterbalance the "equal rights" bill for women, Senator Fox's bill is entitled an "act to give equal rights to men" and would add 15 articles to the state constitution.

One article, which might be aimed at the wily custom of raiding husbands' trousers pockets, provides that the wife who takes her husband's money may be tried for embezzlement or larceny.

The bill also provides that: It shall be the duty of the wife to contribute at least one-half to the expenses of the home and the support of the family.

The wife who deserts her husband may be imprisoned.

BOY GETS FIRST LONG PANTS AS LIFE PRISONER

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., March 9.—John Mollick, 16-year-old boy in knee pants, was given his first pair of long trousers today.

John started to serve a life term in prison for the murder of his stepmother.

He is the youngest "lifer" in the State's history.

Purse Snatcher Is Foiled By Woman

Accosted by a man who seized her purse as she was returning home last night, Mrs. G. G. Dorsey, 3236 Galindo street, fought with her assailant, driving him away.

Hearing the woman's screams, citizens chased the man for several blocks at Thirty-fourth street and Boothill boulevard.

Mrs. Dorsey found out that before the man dropped her purse he opened it and took $2.00.

Wolfe advocated the passage of the budget system for California, to be voted on next fall.

Uncle Wiggity's STORIES

The Bear swallowed every drop.

UNCLE WIGGITY AND THE PEPPERMINT.

"Nurse Jane! Nurse Jane! Have you anything that will stop it? I suddenly called Nurse Wiggity from his room in the hollow stump bungalow one day.

"Stop what?" the muskrat lady housekeeper wanted to know. "Is the Wiggity Wolf coming, or the Fuzzy Fox, or do you want me to do something to stop them?"

"But I'd like something to stop my toothache," said the rabbit gentleman, coming downstairs with one foot twinkling nose. "I have a most dreadful toothache, and it is so cold and stormy I don't want to go out to the gentleman bear dentist's today. I'll go tomorrow, but if you could give me something to rub on it today, it might stop the pain for a while."

"I am sorry for you," exclaimed "Nurse Jane Wiggity." Here is a bottle of strong peppermint drops, and she handed it to Mr. Longears. "Nothing could do anything to stop your toothache, but I'll give you a little more, ever though it made his tooth hurt worse to stop over."

In today and rub peppermint on my aching tooth. Tomorrow I'll go to the dentist's," he decided.

But rather glad you are going to stay in rather than go to the dentist's," said Nurse Jane. "Not that I like you to have a pain, but I see Mr. Longears, the pig lady, and it's just as well to have some one in the bungalow, but I won't be very well," grunted Uncle Wiggity, as he rubbed some of the strong, smart peppermint on his tooth. "The smart and burn, but as it was, made the ache seem a little less, and the bunny gentleman felt better."

"I'll hop along now, Uncle Wiggity," said Nurse Jane, when she had made the hot water bag ready for him in case he might need it. "I hope your toothache will soon be ended."

"Peppermint helps it some," answered the rabbit uncle, as he sat in his easy chair with the bottle of strong essence near his head. "But the smart and burn, but as it was, made the ache seem a little less, and the bunny gentleman felt better."

In today and rub peppermint on my aching tooth. Tomorrow I'll go to the dentist's," he decided.

But rather glad you are going to stay in rather than go to the dentist's," said Nurse Jane. "Not that I like you to have a pain, but I see Mr. Longears, the pig lady, and it's just as well to have some one in the bungalow, but I won't be very well," grunted Uncle Wiggity, as he rubbed some of the strong, smart peppermint on his tooth. "The smart and burn, but as it was, made the ache seem a little less, and the bunny gentleman felt better."

"I'll hop along now, Uncle Wiggity," said Nurse Jane, when she had made the hot water bag ready for him in case he might need it. "I hope your toothache will soon be ended."

"Peppermint helps it some," answered the rabbit uncle, as he sat in his easy chair with the bottle of strong essence near his head. "But the smart and burn, but as it was, made the ache seem a little less, and the bunny gentleman felt better."

"Nurse Jane! Nurse Jane! Have you anything that will stop it? I suddenly called Nurse Wiggity from his room in the hollow stump bungalow one day.

"Stop what?" the muskrat lady housekeeper wanted to know. "Is the Wiggity Wolf coming, or the Fuzzy Fox, or do you want me to do something to stop them?"

"But I'd like something to stop my toothache," said the rabbit gentleman, coming downstairs with one foot twinkling nose. "I have a most dreadful toothache, and it is so cold and stormy I don't want to go out to the gentleman bear dentist's today. I'll go tomorrow, but if you could give me something to rub on it today, it might stop the pain for a while."

"I am sorry for you," exclaimed "Nurse Jane Wiggity." Here is a bottle of strong peppermint drops, and she handed it to Mr. Longears. "Nothing could do anything to stop your toothache, but I'll give you a little more, ever though it made his tooth hurt worse to stop over."

Love of family and friends is the driving power to hold a would-be suicide in the world, according to the writer of the following letter to A. S. L. TELL HER WE ALL WANT HER TO LIVE is the plea. Is it selfishness to ask it, or is it love?

Dear Jerry:

This is my first letter. If you find it worth while to publish, do so. If not, you know what to do. It is regarding A. S. L.

I'm a stranger here and I'm afraid I'll not explain myself as well as I would like to.

Jerry, when I read that letter from A. S. L. I felt badly—I should say terribly sad. Is she a woman? It is true that having an incurable disease must be a very terrible thing, but Jerry, if she has a friend, a mother, a sister or anyone who loves her deeply, or needs her badly, would it be lots and lots worse for them to lose her? She says she has no attractions for her. Wouldn't it be some attraction to live for their love and want that bring joy to her? Jerry, I tell her WE ALL WANT HER TO LIVE.

It is true that life has more sorrow in it than joy, but Jerry, we were born and have to live. Perhaps she has never needed another's sufferings. There are times when we think ours is the greatest suffering, and yet if we compare it with another's, how little it seems.

But she must realize that it is better to live while her heart works. Who knows what the great beyond will be? There are so many things one can do here, even if ill. She can find a way to help and want that bring joy to her? Jerry, I wish I had some power to convince her to live on, but with my poor wisdom, I'm only a TWENTY-TWO YEAR OLD.

A. S. L. has received many beautiful letters but none more generous than this one:

Dear Geraldine:

Please tell the lady who is contemplating suicide to wait a while. The doctors may have made a mistake in saying she had an incurable disease, the same as they did with me. She may not have an incurable disease at all, any more than I have.

The best doctors in San Francisco told me I had only a few weeks to live. That was six years ago. I have been doing all my work now for four years. It took time, though. I had to suffer and wait and wait. I will give you my address, Jerry, and she can come out and I will tell her all about it, and if she wishes, she can come and keep me company for a few weeks, as I live all alone and am lonely. Some times I think I am getting queer from living alone so much.

Goodbye, Jerry dear.

MRS. A. C.

From a woman who climbed out of the depths of a heart hurt came the following message of love:

Dear Geraldine:

I have never written you before, but am a constant reader of your column and now, in response to A. S. L. I would say NOT self destruction.

I am recovering slowly from a heart hurt—that all but killed me and the thought to end it all, came to me many times. It all came to me when I was in the hospital, fought for those whom I loved and now I am glad that I was strong enough to get HOLD of myself. An incurable disease may turn out to be curable, one cannot give up easily. I will give you just what A. S. L. was suffering from she might be helped. I've known of many incurable, so-called, diseases that properly cared for were in the end cured. So I say to A. S. L. no. It is not a suicide. Take the bull by the horns, look about you. You will see many who would perhaps be better off were they dead. I know the idea of suicide once firmly fixed in the mind is hard to shake. It's just an easy way out, we think, but your life is not your own and you simply must forget it. Don't give up but "dig in" and I know you can be helped.

Dear Geraldine, I wonder, could we help? Could I? A. S. L. should go the limit in finding out if she is incurable. I think perhaps the word of one or a few has been taken.

Now, hang on, A. S. L. The game thing for you to do is to live and fight it out. You will, won't you?

Yours in haste, and always good luck.

Still, I don't believe in suicide. If I could be of any help, call to me through the Jerry column.

J. L.

When one is suffering horrible pain, does it take courage to "go," or courage to stay? "Anyone who says it takes courage to die under those conditions is a liar by the clock." That's the statement made by the foolishness of crossing a bridge before you come to it.

I wasn't helpless all the time, but have been dependent on others most of the time. I have a disease of the spine which was called "incurable" a few years ago and I think little is really known of it yet. I was helpless in bed thirteen months and one month of that time had one night's sleep in three, and fighting the rest of the time against the awful ANYONE WHO SAYS IT TAKES COURAGE TO DIE UNDER THOSE CONDITIONS IS A LIAR BY THE CLOCK.

Still, I don't believe in suicide because to give all a "square deal" I must carry on with life as well as with any other duty, however disagreeable, and do my best to finish what I have started.

Listen, World!

TWO women passed down the street.

One woman wore a coat of silver fox and a small toque caught with a diamond pin. Her hair, skin and the slender lines of her figure showed infinite service given to her by others. As she passed along she thought to herself:

"I do hope Marie sees it that the children eat their lunch. Betty's cough worries me. I must take her to Dr. Marston. What lovely

Here is luck to you, Mr. Batch. Hope you find the right one. Jerry, dear, a word of love and encouragement to you. HAPPY THOUGH MARRIED.

I hope some frightened little "Ruth" will see this and take heart again:

Dear Jerry:

Never before have I written to you, but as I see many persons do write who do not cry on your shoulder, I thought I would write, too. I don't know whether these few lines will help anyone or not, but I hope you will print them if you think they will.

About four years ago I was a single girl in Ruth's very shoes, all because of a mother who cared more for society than she did for her one and only daughter. I was raised in a convent, where the sisters do not believe in telling young girls anything and where mother love, which every child is entitled to, was unknown. At any rate, one thing they did teach me was to be handy with the needle.

Well, anyway, when I was 15 I was sent out to work, and I met a young man of well-to-do parents who I thought I loved. Perhaps I did. I was in Ruth's shoes before many months. I was to marry him, but my parents wouldn't listen to it. He finally went into the army and we both found we had made a great mistake. I didn't care for him and he didn't care for me.

In a few years, during which I nearly cried my eyes out and pined my heart away over what I had done, I met a young lady who took a great interest in me and after many months spent partly in her beautiful home, I told her all. She told me to forget it and just live for the future and not for the past. I tried to, though it was very hard to.

One day a couple of years later her brother, a fine big fellow, returned from the army on a furlough of three weeks. During this time there were many parties and many games and I always found myself his partner.

Needless to say, I found myself regretting the day when his furlough would be up, and the day before he left I learned he was doing the same. At any rate he asked me to wait for him until Uncle Sam was through. I did so and one day in December we were married and I am still his partner as at the games and parties several years ago. We were married four years in December, have a darling little home and two sweet kiddies, the boy 2 years and 4 months and the girl 1 month, and I never regret a day of my life. I have never read a letter of dreadful sin, either, and I can truthfully say there isn't a happier couple in Oakland, although I must add we have had our little quarrels and our hard luck, but we are still in love, and I love him.

A MOTHER OF JUSTICE.

Who wouldn't swing a willing typewriter-punch with a champion like this backing the game:

Dear Geraldine:

Just a few words to San Leandro. She says your page is not fit for growing children and upholds vice and lust and is slanderous, but she has never read it but twice. She did not think it was fit to show her children and destroyed it as soon as it came. My advice is for her to read it often, and also to let her children read it. Let them read the different letters and see what their opinion is. I have read a lot of Cynthia Gray's letters and answers when I was up north and have followed your page for several years for a better world and am here to tell you that I think if there were a lot more Geraldines the next generation would have a lot to thank you for. Also I heard of a Congregation friend, Dr. Van Horn, say that if there were more Geraldines there would be fewer divorces in this country.

NEW JERSEY.

A FUTURE CIRCUS GIRL. Did you ever think of the hours of WORK a person employed by a circus has to put in? Did you? Traveling at night, practicing, afternoon and evening performances. To God, is that the kind of a life you want? I don't know how to get into a circus—except by paying my good money at the door—but I believe you can get the information you want from the "Billboard," a theatrical magazine on sale at the news stands.

Dear Geraldine:

I really do "Bo Peep Problem," which tells how the famous shepherdess corralled seven black sheep and then sat down to figure out how three straight fences might be erected across the square pasture so as to give a separate pen to each of her black beauties.

Now, carefully study the relative positions of these seven sheep and see if you can plan a method of corralling the young lady's wishes.

Just draw three straight lines across the square so as to put each animal in a separate pen.

Don't get the jealous bug into your head

Don't get the jealous bug into your head before you have found the girl. If you start out that way, you won't help you. Mr. Batch, for half of the jealous folk get, in my estimation, only exist in their own minds. You will find out if you ever marry that some life is the only thing of course. But a young couple have to jazz up once in a while, just to keep fresh, and if they are regular pals they can go anywhere, at any time, without danger of absorbing the moods and morals of others. We have traveled far and have discovered that into any country one goes there is always a certain element that is "fast" and one can take in places now and then and still remain the same.

Here is luck to you, Mr. Batch. Hope you find the right one. Jerry, dear, a word of love and encouragement to you. HAPPY THOUGH MARRIED.

Industrial Problems Will Be Considered

WASHINGTON, March 9 (By International News Service).—Problems of business stabilization and methods to prevent periods of industrial and commercial depressions will be discussed at a conference of trade associations to be held here on March 21, Secretary of Commerce Hoover announced today. New $348 Car to Compete With Noted Detroit Auto

By JIM HOULIHAN.

Is there to be some real competition for Henry Ford in the low priced car field? A dispatch today from Washington, D. C., where W. C. Durant's new four-cylinder $348 automobile made its premiere appearance, would indicate such a probability.

Telegraphic news from the nation's capital states that the new automobile will be known as the "Starr" and will have a Continental motor, disc clutch, selective sliding transmission with three forward speeds and reverse, Timken bearings in front and rear wheels, together with Timken axles, Hotchkiss drive shaft, and the "Tubular" backbone, a feature exclusive to Durant's four-cylinder model. Vacuum feed gasolene tank, semi elliptic springs, demountable fims, electrical equipment and full streamline five-passenger body with a high hood and slanting windshield are other noticeable points about the new model. In addition to a touring car other body types will be produced.

Quantity delivery is promised by W. C. Durant beginning June 1. Where the car will be manufactured Durant declined to state, according to the news received in Oakland. In this connection, however, it is reasonable to believe that the new car will have one of the manufacturing or assembling plants, although no definite information is expected until R. C. Durant, who is now en route to Oakland from New York, reaches here.

CALIFORNIA PRICE. The California price of the latest Durant sensation, war tax and freight charges paid, will probably be around $475 the definite figure in this respect will also be known when Durant gets back to this city. The new product will be made by Durant Motors Inc., under contract with the Starr Motor Co., which controls its distribution in the United States.

Many conjectures have been advanced concerning the interests who are associated with Durant in this most recent venture and the story most frequently heard is that he has as active and financial associates Continental, Timken and other parts manufacturers, who want to be interested in an automobile which can compete in price and sales volume with Ford. These parts producers, so the gossip runs, have visions of a future tremendous replacement business once the Starr car has reached volume production and thousands of them have been in service for two or more years and it is this replacement trade which holds forth promise of steady profits that makes their advent into the automobile manufacturing field one well worth while.

A statement was made some two years ago in San Francisco by a then high official of the Ford Motor Co. that if Ford were to cease building motor cars immediately he would still have a profit on his parts sales for years to come, large enough to pay a 6 per cent dividend on the entire capitalization of the Ford Motor Co.

If that statement was backed by a true knowledge of conditions, there is some ground for believing the motives which are said to have prompted these parts makers to engage in the low priced car manufacturing industry.

PROFITS AT $348. Those supposed to be acquainted with the manufacturing costs on the Starr say that it can yield a profit to its builders at a selling price of $348 if only 10,000 were to be built in a single year. From this same source it is also learned that fuel economy is one of the many virtues which will commend the new car to buyers.

When the first car will come to California will be found out upon Durant's return. The date shouldn't be many weeks away if the same speed is shown in turning out this car that has been evidenced in getting into production with the Durant Four.

AZZIE SMITH NOW GRASPS IT; SHE'S OUT $135

Azzie Smith, 4026 Lusk street, is poorer by $135 today but no wiser because she told the police that she still does not understand how it happened.

Standing at Fourteenth and Broadway Miss Smith was accosted by a man and engaged in conversation. Immediately another passed and dropped a wallet. "Directly afterward a third picked it up. An argument ensued between the man with whom she was talking and the finder of the wallet as to the propriety of returning it to the rightful owner.

It was then decided to "split" the proceeds, the contents of the purse proving to be four $50 bills. In order that they might have some bills of small denomination Miss Smith drew $135 from the bank and gave it to the men. They were to bring her $700 to her home last night.

Movie Beauty Gains 10½ Pounds in 22 Days through IRONIZED YEAST

ANOTHER startling evidence of Ironized Yeast's value as a weight-builder! In a test conducted under the supervision of a registered physician, Miss Dorothy Byrne, pretty artist's model and movie beauty, gains 10½ pounds—in only 22 days! Miss Byrne's measurements, taken before and after the test, are given below.

A striking example—yet by no means an exceptional one. For it is not at all unusual for thin, nervous, over-worked or run-down folk to gain five pounds and more on the very first package of Ironized Yeast!

Results in Half the Usual Time!

Ordinary yeast vitamin preparations have in many cases been known to bring good results. But thousands now know that Ironized Yeast, the scientifically correct vitamin tonic treatment, brings results often in just half the usual time!

One reason for this marked superiority is that Ironized Yeast, besides containing just the right amount of all three essential vitamins, contains a type of yeast which has positively no equal as a reconstructive agent—a yeast which is cultured expressly for medicinal purposes, and which is entirely different from the yeast found in ordinary yeast tablets.

Yeast Best When Ironized

But even more important than this is the fact that this yeast has been ironized—or treated through a scientific process with a special form of easily assimilated organic iron, similar to the iron found in spinach. When yeast is ironized in this manner it is found that results are not only more permanent, but are secured just twice as quickly.

Watch the Quick Improvement

TYPEWRITING CONTEST TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Armstrong School

A young man said the other day while talking of his plans for the future: "I don't want to go in for business; the opportunities for advancement are almost nil unless you have a pull."

Opportunities, in any line, now as in the past, trends hard upon ability. The fallacy that the "school of experience" is the only school of training worth while has long since been proven. The Armstrong school has nationwide recognition as being one of the very best of its kind. It is more than an ordinary business college; it is an institution which offers a high-grade university (of the first class) training by men and women who are experts in their line. The spring term begins April 3, 1922. The school is located just off the university campus, at 2024 University avenue, Berkeley, in a most modern plant.

The booth at the Business Show, which is in the personal charge of Armstrong, is at the head of the aisle leading from the main entrance.

Beanston Letter Co.

Offering expert service on direct advertising by mail, the Beanston Letter Co., 144 Sansome street, Keith-Beanston, manager, has arranged a most comprehensive exhibit at the Business Show. In the two years that Beanston, who was formerly with the Ramsey Oppenheim Co., has been carrying on this business it has made rapid strides, and now employs ten regular workers, all experts in their line. In addition he has a competent reserve staff of additional workers who can be called on to handle an unusually big job.

The plant is thoroughly equipped with the latest power and automatic machinery and Beanston is prepared to handle with the greatest efficiency all business that is entrusted to him.

Wholesale Typewriter Co.

There was a time when the purchaser of a writing machine had only the choice of buying a new machine or a second-hand one. In the former instance the price was regarded by many as prohibitive, but the value of the latter was not always of a known quantity.

This situation in the typewriter market was changed by the organization of the Wholesale Typewriter company about ten years ago. In fact, the entrance of this company into the Western typewriter field inaugurated a new era in the industry.

Church Officers in San Leandro Chosen

SAN LEANDRO, March 9.—Trustees for the ensuing year were selected and church business was discussed at the annual open banquet of the First Presbyterian church last night. A report regarding the finances of the church showed that over $5000 had been raised during the past year, utilized for both home and benevolent purposes.

A. C. Thorpe was re-elected superintendent of the Bible school. E. Ballard was elected to the office of elder.

Dr. R. S. Donaldson, of San Francisco yesterday visited Rev. Monroe Drew, pastor of the Presbyterian church, to discuss the proposed building site in Broadmoor. Plans for the construction of a new Presbyterian church in this town are formulating, according to Rev. Drew, and it is believed that the present year will witness its construction.

GENOA REFUSAL DECLARED TO BE ACT OF PRESSURE

Officials Say U. S. Uses Tact Regarding Rehabilitation of Europe.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Refusal of the United States to participate in the Genoa conference may be viewed as the first step in a campaign of "racial pressure" to promote rehabilitation of Europe, it was said today by a high official of the American government. It should not be regarded, this official said, as an indication of the United States' desire to hold aloof from the grave problems confronting European nations.

Secretary Hughes' note to Italy declining the invitation to participate in the Genoa meeting should be interpreted, it was said, rather as an expression of America's willingness to aid whenever it was felt that its aid could be rendered effectively.

The United States cannot afford to enter into a situation where the help expected from it cannot be given, officials explained, adding that the American government must be viewed as holding "its support in abeyance until such time as the European nations get down to 'brass tacks' in setting their houses in order."

Economic problems regarded by this country as of supreme importance include principally the rearrangement of German reparations and balancing of budgets by certain foreign nations. With considerations of these questions in the view of the United States, it was said, there would be no practical attempt at worldwide economic readjustment.

Rancher's Charity Leads To Murder

LOS ANGELES, March 9.—Authorities of Orange and Los Angeles counties, inquiring into unexplained circumstances of the death of Julian P. Cumberland, whose body was found Saturday at Sunset beach, near here, with a weight tied around the neck, today were investigating reports by friends concerning philanthropic activities of the rancher. It has been suggested to the police that Cumberland may have been lured to death by a man seeking to take advantage of his philanthropic nature. L. V. Shepherd of Pasadena, acquaintance for many years of Cumberland, expressed belief that Cumberland was lured to an act of benevolence and murdered and the body thrown into the sea. The day before his death he opened a safe deposit at a local bank.

To those who like the tang of the sea, George Melford's production, "The Elton Case," featuring Rudolph Valentino and Dorothy Dalton, will prove a source of delight. The picture is based on the story by the T. & D. studio. The situations are thrilling and the supporting company one of the best ever seen.

Sunday will bring "Tollable David," an appealing story of the Virginians, who were lured to a "hole" of the Kineman family, suddenly find himself his head, David's older brother, Allen, has been crippled by a fall from a tree, and David's father is seized with a fatal stroke as he is about to avenge Allen's death.

Because David is considered too young to handle the farm they are forced to leave their home, and to his troubles David believes Esther Hatburn, his sweetheart, is responsible for his griefs.

SOPHIE BRASLAU

Sophie Braslau, the brilliant young contralto, who is to appear next Monday evening, March 13, at the Auditorium Opera House under the management of Zerkow, began her career in New York less than a half dozen years ago and already her recitals are associated with the most important figures of a musical season. So far as New York is concerned, she has quite graduated from the class of "youngsters" into that small and dazzling group of artists who "have arrived."

Of a recent visit to New York, the Tribune said, "she has rightly won for herself an enviable place on the American concert stage."

Genoa Parley Political, Not Economic, U. S. Stand

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The United States government has formally refused to participate in the Genoa conference. The reason given by Secretary of State Hughes in his note declining the invitation is that the proposed conclave "is not primarily an economic conference—but is rather a conference of a political character in which the United States could not helpfully participate."

The text of the note to the Italian ambassador follows: Department of State, Washington, March 8, 1922. Excellency: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your excellency's note transmitting the invitation addressed by the Italian government to the government of the United States to take part in a "conference on financial and economic problems" to be convened at Genoa pursuant to the resolution adopted on January 6, 1922, by the allied governments in conference at Cannes.

While the United States government does not believe that it should participate in the proposed conclave, it sincerely hopes that progress may be made in preparing the way for the eventual discussion and settlement of the fundamental economic and financial questions relating to European recuperation which press for consideration. CHARLES E. HUGHES.

His Excellency, Senator Vittorio Rolando Ricci, Ambassador for Italy.

WILL PROCEED WITH PLANS. LONDON, March 9 (By the Associated Press).—The decision of the United States not to participate in the Genoa conference will not affect the date of nor the plans for the conference as far as Great Britain is concerned, it was stated officially today. The American refusal was no surprise to official circles, where the realization exists, it was said, that efforts to consummate the results of the Washington armament conference by the ratification of the various conference treaties are envisaged by the American government's attention primarily at present. It is the British belief that the other nations invited to attend the Genoa meeting will be present.

While it is known that Russia desired American representation, it is not thought likely she will risk losing her long-sought opportunity to re-enter the conference of the powers by declining to take part in the Genoa gathering.

The Pall Mall Gazette and Globe says: "America gives very disapproving support to those endeavoring to make real, constructive progress in the restoration of Europe's economic life, task of deeper importance than the mere activities of a soup kitchen."

PEN EXPERT TO SPEAK. SAN LEANDRO, March 9.—A lecture on rhythmic penmanship was given yesterday by Miss Louise M. Spencer of Los Angeles before a meeting of the teachers of the San Leandro Lincoln school.

It is with this sympathetic spirit and with the utmost reluctance to withhold its support from any appropriate effort to attain this object, that the government of the United States has examined the resolution adopted at Cannes and the suggested agenda for the conference.

I regret to inform your excellency that as a result of this decision that it has been found impossible to escape the conclusion that the proposed conference is not primarily an economic conference, as questions appropriate to have been excluded from consideration without the satisfactory determination of which the chief causes of economic disturbance must continue to operate; but is rather a conference of political character in which the government of the United States could not helpfully participate.

This government cannot be unmindful of the clear conviction of the American people while serious, as they have abundantly demonstrated, suitably to assist in the recovery of the economic life of Europe, that they should not unnecessarily become involved in European political questions.

REGARDING RUSSIA. It may be added, with respect to Russia, that this government, anxious to do all in its power to promote the welfare of the Russian people, views with the most eager and friendly interest every step taken toward the restoration of economic conditions which will permit Russia to regain her productive power, but these conditions, in the view of this government, cannot be secured until adequate action is taken on the part of those chiefly responsible for Russia's present economic disorder.

It is also the view of this government—and it trusts that view is shared by the governments who have called the conference—that while awaiting the establishment of the essential bases of productivity in Russia, to which reference was made in the public declaration of this government on March 25, 1921, and without which this government believes all consideration of economic revival to be futile, nothing should be done looking to the obtaining of economic advantages in Russia which would impair the just opportunities of others, but that the resources of the Russian people should be free from such exploitation and that fair and equal economic opportunity in their interest as well as in the interest of all powers, should be preserved.

While this government does not believe that it should participate in the proposed conclave, it sincerely hopes that progress may be made in preparing the way for the eventual discussion and settlement of the fundamental economic and financial questions relating to European recuperation which press for consideration. CHARLES E. HUGHES.

His Excellency, Senator Vittorio Rolando Ricci, Ambassador for Italy.

WILL PROCEED WITH PLANS. LONDON, March 9 (By the Associated Press).—The decision of the United States not to participate in the Genoa conference will not affect the date of nor the plans for the conference as far as Great Britain is concerned, it was stated officially today. The American refusal was no surprise to official circles, where the realization exists, it was said, that efforts to consummate the results of the Washington armament conference by the ratification of the various conference treaties are envisaged by the American government's attention primarily at present. It is the British belief that the other nations invited to attend the Genoa meeting will be present.

BANDITS HOLD UP WORKMEN'S CAMP, FLEE WITH $700

Employees at Don Pedro Dam Robbed By Armed Trio in Raid At Dawn.

MODESTO, March 9.—Bursting open the bunkhouse door and firing a shot to awaken sleeping men within, three youthful bandits held up the Don Pedro construction camp of the Modesto-Turlock Irrigation company last night, escaping with $700.

While one man stood guard outside the door, the other two bandits, masked and armed with large caliber revolvers, lined up the eight workmen in the cabin and rifled their clothes and bunks of money and valuables.

They left the cabin as suddenly as they had appeared, fleeing in an automobile toward Turlock. Three hundred men, the entire crew employed in the construction of the Don Pedro dam, armed themselves and pressing every available automobile into use, pursued the bandits and spread a dragnet over all mountain trails.

Officers in Turlock and Modesto were notified.

COLUMBIA CAMPUS INSTRUCTION BOOK SHOCKS TEACHERS

Publication Telling How to "Pet" and Succeed at College Squashed.

By HARRY M. FLORY
International News Service Staff
NEW YORK, March 9.—Staid Columbia university professors today received a shock when they opened their copies of the "Black and Blue" book, an anonymous campus publication, and found therein specific instructions to men students on how and when to "pet," how to care for a fraternity brother in an intoxicated condition, how to "pet" "easy" professors, and other information designed to lead the student to the "perfect life."

The book's editors point out in an introduction that the compilation of information, if properly digested, will guarantee the success of any man's college career.

"Petting," the book says, "is the most enjoyable intercollegiate sport, with the exception of taking a girl to a swimming meet."

"Always pet in darkness," the instructions say, "not so much because of modesty, but of imagination. This will also prevent being caught in an embarrassing clinic if father returns home unexpectedly for the other quart."

Other excerpts follow:

"Do not drape your arm around a girl's shoulder, as it makes her feel sore. In a taxi this discomfort may be alleviated by holding her in your lap."

"The touch, as in typewriting, should be light. Running your fingers through her hair is also very effective."

The contents of the last page of the fifty-page booklet will be gladly received by Margot Asquith, as it upholds her assertion of the future of prohibition in the United States. It contains a blank to be filled in with the proper names and addresses and carried in the male collegians' bill fold. It reads like this: "If the bearer is found intoxicated, please deliver to—"

"My key is in lower right vest pocket. Third floor front, door to right. Bathroom in rear. Collect taxi fare from the large hall near window. Flank in right hip pocket. You are welcome to what's left."

The entire issue of 900 copies was sold on the campus at 25 cents a copy within five hours after publication. The editors prepared for a reprinting, but Dean Hawkes of Columbia college, learning of the plan, ordered the publication "nauseated" and the holders of the 900 prized copies were exulting today over the less fortunate fellow-colleagues.

DRY STRATEGIST MASQUERADES AS VIRTUOSO, WINS

NEW YORK, March 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Izzy E. Einstein, New York's most versatile rum hunter, announced yesterday he had added another to the current series of "blues" songs.

It's called "Those Revenuer Blues," and according to Einstein, it proved a veritable knock-out in the Brooklyn cabaret where he first produced it.

Izzy, the best hated of all the city's race of bootlegger chasers, had been trying to think out a scheme for "getting the goods on" that particular cabaret for several weeks, when a violin case, seized as a liquor "transporter," gave him the inspiration.

Tossing his hair and thinking himself into a musical frame of mind, he strode into the cabaret, set his violin case tenderly on a chair beside him and ordered dinner—"with."

A cautious waiter communicated the illicit part of his desire to the proprietor.

"Sure—that's Jake the fiddler. He plays in the orchestra down at that vaudeville house on Flatbush avenue. Give him anything he wants, as it is his violin."

Then he hurried to Izzy's table to make him welcome and bespeak for his guests one selection from "Jake the fiddler's" famous fiddle.

"Sure, I'll play," said "Jake," temporizing until he got his evidence. "What kind of music do you like?"

"Oh, any kind," said the proprietor.

"Well," said Izzy, reaching for his violin case as the waiter bustled in with the merrymerry, "I'll play."

Adroitly he extracted a large mouthed bottle from the violin case, poured in the evidence, and concluded:

"Those Revenuer Blues."

"You could have knocked him over with a feather," Izzy concluded.

MODERN DEVIL SHAKES WICKED KNEE AT DANCE

Reformer Declares Grandfather's Weapons Too Obsolete.

BY UNITED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
NEW YORK, March 9.—"Modern methods must be used in fighting the 1922 model shimmy-shaking devil. You can't combat the up-to-date Satan who shakes a wicked knee on the dance floor with the weapons our grandfathers used against the old-fashioned, brimstone, breathing Memphis."

This is the answer of Dr. John Roach Straton, famous reformer, to Dr. Robert Stuart MacArthur, who quit Calvary Baptist Church, which he founded, because he couldn't stand Straton's sensational style.

Straton will preach next Sunday on the subject of Dr. MacArthur's resignation from the church.

No longer does the devil wiggle a wicked forked tail but now he shakes a shimmying shoulder, Straton declared.

"The devil of today is no longer the bold, brazen devil of years ago. The new model has arrayed himself like an angel of light," he said.

Nor does the devil declare where he goes, in Straton's belief, for he says, "the devil often sits in the seats of the theologians and sometimes enters the pulpit."

Brimstone of Dante's time has turned to jazz, movies and the theaters of 1922, Straton said.

"The 1922 devil is an advocate of jazz and a regular attendant of movies and theaters," he declared.

Supreme efforts of the new devil, according to Straton's analysis, are:

To undermine virtue of women.

To destroy masculine honor.

To wreck the marriage vow.

To checkmate the church.

To overthrow the old-fashioned home.

These things are the 1922 model devil and these are some of his works," Straton declared.

Unscrambling Mixed Juror Tangle Starts Big Row

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 9.—A jury comprising both men and women, hearing a case in this state, need not be looking up for the night in one room, under the Minnesota law, as interpreted today by Clifford L. Hilton, state's attorney general.

Hilton's opinion was given as the result of complaint of several jurors in a case here last week, in which the jury of seven women and five men spent two nights in the jury room at the county jail, with only unimproved curtains separating the cots occupied by the men from those used by the women.

"While the law declares jurors must not be separated," Mr. Hilton said, "it further holds that such separation is not sufficient basis for a new trial, so long as it cannot be shown that prejudice resulted from the separation."

Governor J. A. O. Preus remarked that he would not care to have Mrs. Preus serve on a jury under conditions such as prevailed last week, said such action should not be compulsory.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 9.—Unscrambling of mixed juries started here today. Club women protested when it became known that seven women and five men were locked in the county jail two nights while they were finding George Thoenke guilty of auto theft, campaigned for separate rooms for women.

"I think it's a crime," said Mrs. G. H. Bestor. "The irate husbands who stormed the jail when they found out their wives were locked up with men were justified."

Minnesota law requires that jurors be locked up together for the night. The law was passed before equal suffrage came.

TRENTON, N. J., March 9.—Agitation against locking up mixed juries of men and women all night, threatened to break out in Trenton, N. J.

Husbands and wives of six jurywomen and six jurymen who were forced to spend a night in the same room, may yet together organize some sort of a protest, following the example of St. Paul's husbands and wives.

The Trenton jury disagreed and was discharged after 20 hours' deliberation. The six men and six women spent the night in a big room in the court house. They played cards and when they became weary pulled the cushions from arm chairs and took naps on the floor.

SCHOLARSHIP IN "FRATS" RAPPEL BY U. C. EDITOR

BERKELEY, March 9.—Fraternities at the University of California have lagged in scholarship, and the comment of Dr. J. E. Sparks, president emeritus of Pennsylvania State College is proved true by the academic averages of the Greek letter men, according to Editor C. C. Wakefield of the Daily Californian. Dr. Sparks, who is a visitor in Berkeley, declared yesterday that fraternities are on trial, and that they must show improvement in scholarship in order to retain a place in college life.

This declaration is seconded by President Emeritus Benjamin Ide Wheeler, who states that the organization men spend too much time on other activities, with the result that scholarship declines. Wakefield, however, declares that the collegians realize their fault, and have taken the matter in hand.

There never has been a time in the life of fraternities when studies have been given greater emphasis. Scholarship has become the driving aim; all else has become secondary. Strict discipline is being expressed by fraternity officers, and privileges are being taken away from delinquent students. The fraternity men realize that their standing is threatened, and in a desire to continue their place in the college world an effort is being made to bolster up scholarship.

The wedding will not take place until late in the year.

2000 LIVES ARE SAVED BY MULBERRY TREE

BERKELEY, March 9.—Near East relief was afforded in the Far West today when 2000 lives were saved through the efforts of Charles E. Woodworth, a university student.

Woodworth was aided in his kindly ministrations by Park Superintendent Biedbach.

The lives that were saved were not those of human beings, but silk worms, which were sent to Woodworth by his father, Prof. C. W. Woodworth, who is now in China. Prof. Woodworth is in the entomology department at the university.

The infant worms hatched out on the way here, and were expected to be fed to him. They live on mulberry leaves, and an appeal was sent out for that particular form of edible.

When the worms were hovering on the brink of starvation, Biedbach succeeded in locating a mulberry tree on Bancroft way. A banquet for the worms was held. With the exception of one or two worms that succumbed to acute indigestion due to overloading their stomachs, all of the 2000 were saved.

The case of James F. Kapp, a real estate operator who is charged with buying and selling real estate without a license, was continued for plea until tomorrow by Police Judge Edward J. Tyrrell. Kapp was arrested on the complaint of R. Porter Viles, secretary of the Oakland Real Estate Board.

BANDIT SLAYER OF EARLY DAYS HOLDUP VICTIM

OMAHA, Neb., March 9.—Fred M. (Lone Star) Hans of Omaha, Indian scout under General Philip Sheridan back in the days of 1876 to 1881, and renowned at one time as one of the fastest shooters of a single action pistol in the world, was narrating to two companions the story of "Custer's Last Fight," when the three were held up and attacked by three hold-up men who entered a grocery store and escaped after robbing their victims.

Hans said that it was "plumb disgusting to let those fellows take my money, but what could a fellow do unarmed against three men, each with a pair of guns apiece."

In Cheery county, Nebraska, 18 miles southwest of Valentine, on April 12, 1877, he shot and killed two stage robbers, both of whom had the drop on him.

In 1876, in the "Hole-in-the-Wall" country, Powder River, Wyo., he shot and killed three stage robbers and never suffered a scratch in return.

TECHNICAL PEAS TO AVOID DENIED BY COURT

Twice in Jeopardy Law Held To Have No Bearing On Hugh Newell Case.

Hugh Newell is not to profit by the error of Deputy District Attorney Preston Higgins, who drew the information against Newell, but must stand trial a second time on a charge of embezzlement. Superior Judge George Samuels today overruled Newell's motion for a dismissal of the charge against him because he had already been placed in jeopardy for that offense.

Newell, alleged to have passed on the First National bank of Oakland in January, 1919, a check for $150 signed "New Ellen Potash & Chemical Co." by Hugh Newell, was charged in the original information with having passed a worthless check against his personal account. He was placed on trial and after the case had gone to the jury the defense called the error to the attention of the court and demanded the jury be instructed to bring a verdict of not guilty. This was done and Newell was taken back to jail. When he was arraigned on the amended information his attorneys pleaded he was being tried twice for the same offense.

Oakland Auto Tax Plan Wins Praise

The new city automobile tax system installed by Tax Collector Harry Williams has already resulted in simplified returns, quick payment, and a saving of more than $1000 already in stamps, according to Williams' summary of results so far.

Under the new system, he explains, "we get the numbers of vehicles and the names of the owners direct from the State motor vehicle department. The year and make of the car determine its value. We have regular tables to cover them. We thereupon make out the assessment, send out the tax bill, and get it paid."

For more than half a century her home has been made in this city with whose history she has been prominently connected. She was the widow of the late Elijah T. Flint. The family home is at 1527 Castro street.

Mrs. Flint was the sister of Stephen Bishop of Crockett and sister-in-law of Charles W. Kellogg, early Oakland settler. She was the mother of Mrs. Anne K. Murphy, James P. Flint, Howard M. Flint and Charles W. Flint.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Suffers From Indigestion or Stomach Trouble
CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, flatulence, bloating, etc., are all symptoms of an acid stomach," says a well known authority.

Being hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the lining of the stomach and often leads to gastritis accompanied by dangerous stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with perin or artificial digestants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with little bit of water and Bismarck and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bismarck to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. It soaks up the harmful excess acid much as a sponge or blotting paper might and your stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bismarck is a natural product, a reliable drug in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use. It is not expensive and is not at all addictive.

THIRD CONFESSION IN ARMY SAID NOW REPORTED

Member of Salvage Firm Said To Be Involved in Scandal.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
LOS ANGELES, March 9.—Confession of a third man involved in an alleged conspiracy to defraud the government by manipulation of bids for army goods at an army auction in Camp Kearney last month, was made today by a federal agent here today, on the eve of presentation to the federal grand jury tomorrow of a mass of evidence in the case.

The confession was reported to be that of a Los Angeles man, member of a large firm of salvage factors, which, according to confessions reported to be in the hands of the federal investigators, would have made hundreds of thousands of dollars if the alleged conspiracy had not been thwarted.

Seven names will be presented to the federal grand jury tomorrow, which was indicated today. Two of these were reported to be army officers, engaged in the auction sale of war department property at Camp Kearney, February 20 to 22. Five were reported to be civilian dealers of Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Federal agents declare the investigation has revealed one of the most comprehensive cases ever presented to a grand jury. More than a half million dollars worth of goods were involved. Information concerning the alleged conspiracy was unearthed by agents of the department of justice bureau of investigation and the whole investigation was secretly handled by the federal grand jury. The department was asked to halt delivery of the army goods after the sale took place.

The revelation to the alleged members of the plot that the federal agents had unearthed the details and had recorded conversations taking place on the eve of the sale, resulted in the confessions.

METHOD USED AT U. C. DECLARED RIDICULOUS

BERKELEY, March 9.—Declaring the method of exposing "cheaters" formerly used at the university to be "ridiculous," Harry Pennell, chairman of the college welfare committee, has presented a new procedure to the students, and has proclaimed the system of "tapping" used at other institutions to be foolish and useless.

California was one of the earliest institutions to adopt the honor system, and the plan provided for students to stand up and announce to the class "there is cheating going on in this room." This method is ridiculous, according to Pennell, and he proposes that the student who sees another violating the honor spirit should take the matter personally to the offender.

A code for "California gentlemen" is suggested by Pennell, and he believes that if offenders are personally rebuked, they will desist. If the cheating continues, it should be reported, he says, but the gentlemanly code should not be used to the punishment of violators without necessitating trial and punishment.

Notables Arrives On Liner From New York

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—Mrs. J. S. Slosson, well known San Francisco society woman, returned this morning on the steamer Venezuela from a visit to France, where she had placed a wreath on the grave of her husband, Captain James Slosson, of the 150th infantry regiment of the Twenty-seventh division, American expeditionary forces, who was killed on the Hindenburg lines on September 19, 1918. Mrs. Slosson also placed a wreath on her husband's grave in the name of the American Legion in New York.

Another arrival on the Venezuela was L. H. A. Buxton of the University of Oxford, England, who is traveling on a fellowship which was awarded him by the university for the purpose of studying astrology throughout the world. Buxton has made a trip throughout Mexico, studying ancient Mexican civilization.

By the Venezuela, marks the establishment of the coast to coast route of Pacific Mail vessels, which was started 73 years ago when the ships of that company passed around Cape Horn. When the steamer docked, Mayor James Rolph was present to receive a letter from Mayor Hylan of New York.

It was decided to close the charter list of the Napa Realty Board on March 15. The board also resolved to endorse the Napa Chamber of Commerce plan for the development of the poultry industry in Napa county.

Ghost Refuses to Put on Act for N. Y. Scientist

CALEDONIA HILL, N. Y., March 2.—(By Associated Press.)—Antagonistic folk are beginning to believe the notorious ghost that used to scare people in this valley must have given up noisemaking during Lent. Again last night nothing happened in the home that Alex MacDonald and his family haunted. All night Dr. Walter Franklin Prince, New York scientist who came here three days ago to investigate the ghost story, lay with one eye open waiting for the spook to try to get funny with him. He didn't hear a sound or feel or see anything out of the ordinary.

MacDonald and his wife and their adopted daughter, Mary Ellen, are coming back to sleep in the beds they said the ghost scared them away from. Other conditions under which the manifestations are said to have occurred also will be reproduced.

Dr. Prince hasn't said anything about it but there are reasons for surmising that he intends to keep an eye on little Mary Ellen tonight. Not long ago the doctor let it be known that it was his experience in trekking down ghostly strange pranks that had frightened others always turned out to have had their cause in some human being, which more often than not was in a way or girl with playful tendencies.

The cattle spent a peaceful night and calmly chewed their cuds this morning. When the ghostly alarms and excursions used to make the night hideous for the MacDonalds, the cattle often were found at dawn in the wrong stalls with knots in their tails, which no one would admit having tied.

Dr. Prince's preparations to discover the presence of the ghost proved almost as great a mystery to the Antikristian residents and the visiting newspapermen as the pranks of the now famous ghost. All day the doctor scurried here and there, while scores looked on wonderingly. After an uneventful night, his first care was for the strange contrivance of string and little bells constituting the ghost trap with which he surrounded himself last night. This he carefully wound up, examined and tucked away into a case with a thoughtful air.

After his morning's investigation Dr. Prince sought quarters in a farm house about two miles away and started work on his report of the proceedings thus far.

According to the housewife he was working all the afternoon at a prodigious rate, as if he had something momentous to set down. It was making him will before he defied the spooks another night.

BAHLER RETAINED IN TRAFFIC POST

The traffic bureau of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce will retain as its supervising head G. H. Bahl, who has been retained by the chamber. Bahl has held the position four years. The decision to retain him was made on the recommendation of H. W. Force, chief of the chamber's traffic committee.

Among its activities the bureau carried before the Interstate Commerce commission and the state railroad commission a case which resulted in an estimated reduction in rates to Oakland shippers of more than $40,000 annually. It also brought about a reduction in switching rates to the East Bay industrial district between Oakland's docks and Richmond, Berkeley and Alameda so that it is now possible to ship from the docks cheaper than from San Francisco under this plan. Steamship companies unload here and direct their cargoes consigned to Richmond, Berkeley and Alameda over the city's docks.

The traffic committee of the chamber has retained G. H. Bahl, who has been retained by the chamber. The other members are George C. Clark, H. O. Fisher, R. L. Bushy, Zook Sutton, W. W. Johnson and William P. Mullin.

Former Manager Is Sued By Company

Charges that Fred E. Planett, former manager of Household Wire Works, Inc., of 3702 San Pablo avenue, appropriated to his own use the company's funds, and that he failed to turn in $638 paid him by the company today. The company asks a court order requiring Planett to make good these amounts.

The wire company also says in its complaint that Planett is indebted to it for 25 shares of stock. Or the $2500 which he owed for 25 shares, it is claimed, he has paid only $600. Payment of the remaining $1900 is demanded.

Planett was manager of the company from October, 1920, until May of the following year, the complaint recites.

PLAYGROUND AS AID TO CHILDREN TOLD ROTARIANS

Oakland Official Says Playgrounds Are Check To Criminal Tendencies.

SAN JOSE, March 9.—Jay Nash, superintendent of playgrounds for the city of Oakland, yesterday brought to members of the San Jose Rotary Club a stirring address on the value of playgrounds to a community, urging that the members do all in their power to advance interest in Oakland work in this city.

Nash, an Oakland Rotarian, has been instrumental in installing playgrounds in a number of cities outside of his own and he gave a number of interesting stories concerning his work.

The value of Oakland's playground work was detailed by the speaker during the course of his address. He declared the work is doing much there to solve the juvenile offense problem, keeping children off the streets and tending to build them up physically and mentally.

W. P. Ryan, local Rotarian, delivered a five-minute talk on the ideals and aims of the Rotary thus rounding out the weekly business program of the organization.

Man On Trial For Shooting of Youth

SAN JOSE, March 9.—Following a preliminary examination that was marked by evidences of bitterness on the part of principal witnesses both for prosecution and defense, Guy F. Patrone, charged with assault with intent to commit murder, was yesterday afternoon held to answer to the Superior Court by Police Judge Thomas R. Dougherty.

Patrone is accused of shooting Hardy Culph, 19-year-old local boy, when the latter went to Patrone's house in search of his sister. The boy was wounded in the leg by a shot from Patrone's revolver and is still walking on crutches as a result of his wound.

The accused man yesterday maintained that he did not know who was at the door when he fired and that Culph and two other men attempted to batter down the door of his home, whereupon he fired.

Dorothy Shandley, the sister, stood resolutely by her brother's version of the shooting, testifying for the prosecution.

THURSDAY, MARCH 9, 1922.

THURSDAY, MARCH 9, 1922.

IF THERE IS FAILURE NOW.

In submitting the four-power treaty and the other agreements concluded at the recent Washington conference, President Harding delivered an address to the Senate, in which he made this statement:

"Your government encouraged and has signed compacts which it had much to do in fashioning. If these advanced expressions of the conscience of the leading powers, if to these accords to guard against conflicts and lift the burden of armaments, if to all these the Senate will not advise and consent, then it will be futile to try again."

There is a serious warning in this. If the irreconcilables and other self-seeking obstructionists in the Senate block ratification of the treaties as they have been negotiated, the United States will again lose the confidence of all other nations and will not be trusted in the councils of world governments. Yet despite this visible result of their efforts, should they succeed, there are Senators trying to block these accords to guard against conflict and lift the burden of armaments.

One of the foreign observers at the Washington conference, was Colonel Repington of Great Britain, a military expert and an official diarist of the great war. He was connected with that Molochian adventure from the beginning to the end. This is what Colonel Repington says in his book "After the War," just published by Houghton Mifflin Company:

"Mr. Secretary Hughes sank in thirty-five minutes more ships than all the admirals of the world have destroyed in a cycle of centuries. More, he appeared to me to condemn by anticipation all the armaments of the globe. The armies of the world seem to me beckoned towards the cell of the condemned. Teaching by example, America makes a great renunciation and the most magnificent political gesture of all history. It is an audacious and astonishing scheme and took us off our feet. We seemed spell-bound. The few men to whom I spoke babbled incoherently. What will they say in London? To see a British First Lord of the Admiralty, and another late First Lord, sitting at a table with the American Secretary of State telling them how many ships they might keep and how many they should scrap, struck me as a delightfully fantastic idea. Yet I cannot see any real danger in it if all States follow suit."

One of the leading obstructionists of international Amity is Senator Borah of Idaho. In the Senate discussions he raised the question, What becomes of the Lansing-Ishii understanding? President Harding yesterday replied to Senator Borah with this statement:

"The so-called Lansing-Ishii agreements has no binding effect whatever with respect to the past or to the future which is in any sense inconsistent with the principles and the policies explicitly declared in the treaties."

Senator Lodge, one of the members of the American delegation to the Washington conference which negotiated the several treaties, said yesterday in his speech before the Senate:

"Senators should bear in mind that the defeat of the four-power treaty would endanger the treaty for the limitation of naval armament; and the failure of the naval treaty would shock and startle the world and bitterly disappoint the American people. We must not forget the close relation between the two treaties. The defeat of the four-power treaty would mean the failure of the conference. Let there be no illusion on that point."

"I have faith to believe that the better instincts of mankind are all with us in the effort. If we continue to preach suspicion and hatred of other nations, if we decline to deal with them and believe that they all are actuated by the basest of motives, nothing can ever be done. I have faith to believe that this effort, illustrated by this treaty now before us, will have a large and real result in maintaining the world's peace. If we fail the outlook for the future is dark indeed."

"The best hope of the world for a future where a peace may prevail and war diminish is in the people of the United States. If we fail who can hope to succeed? We called the conference. We proposed the treaties, agreements and declarations in which the conference culminated. Are we now to stumble and fall at the threshold of an undertaking which we designed and brought fulfillment? Are we to sink back into a solitude, a prey to dark suspicions, a prey on armed to the teeth and looking forward always to wars as inseparable from the existence of mankind upon the earth?"

Surely the recollection of the people of the disaster of the recent great war is lively enough and their comprehension of the suffering wrought ample enough to enable them to write in the story between these several statements. After Europe the next great menace of a destructive war was in the Pacific and that menace was little less real and remote than the danger in Europe in 1913. The most threatening circumstance, the cause of greatest distrust and uneasiness, was the Anglo-Japanese military alliance. There was an insistent demand, in this country and in Canada and Australia, that that alliance be abrogated.

Abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese alliance was one of the most important accomplishments of the Washington conference. To attain this end it was necessary to conclude the four-power contents of the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan for the mutual respect of each nation's interests in the Pacific area. That agreement is nothing more than an undertaking of mutual recognition and respect and an agreement for six months' consultation before a declaration of war over any Pacific issue that may arise.

If this treaty is not ratified, the naval treaty, with its provisions for a holiday in building battleships and for reduction and limitation of armaments, also will fail. If the spirit and documents of understanding are to be scrapped there can be no scrapping of war craft; the old policy of mad, war-provoking competition in armaments will have to be renewed.

ABSENT: UNCLE SAM.

It was definitely announced yesterday at Washington that the government has declined the invitation of the European Allied Powers to participate in the proposed economic conference at Genoa. This will be disappointing to the European governments who had hoped to draw this government into a discussion of their economic and financial conditions, with the apparent idea that they might look to this country for assistance.

The intimation was given by the State Department some weeks ago that unless the formula of discussions and the attitude of the principal nations to be represented were satisfactory the United States would not attend. Presumably the necessary assurances have not been given.

So far as the United States is concerned, no ponderable benefit can be foreseen from such a meeting as that proposed by the Allied conference of Cannes. Not being willing to go any further than the credits already extended to help finance Europe, this country could only sit in as an observer and it is not necessary to play this role at Genoa.

If Russia is to be excluded from participation in any economic program which might be adopted by the European Allies it is not necessary that this country be represented. The European nations may get together on any program that proves acceptable and relates to them alone. As to Russia there is no visible way to admit her to participation in an economic program for Europe under present conditions of government and policies in Russia, as there is no foundation for any reliance upon the good faith performance of obligations the Communist regime might undertake.

If it were possible to anticipate that Russia would be able to do anything more substantial than send a delegation of querulous Bolsheviks to Genoa, mainly concerned with objects of political propaganda, the United States probably would reconsider its position.

PROTECTING THE SCENERY.

We believe in advertising thoroughly and heartily. But we believe also there are places where advertising is not appropriate, just as there are places specially adapted to advertising.

Thus we find no difficulty in agreeing with the timeliness of the order of the district forester for California that all advertising signs in the national forests must come down. Advertisements on trees and rocks are to be effaced. Under the regulations of the Forest Service such advertising is prohibited in all national forests, the object being to prevent the desecration of mountain landscapes with unsightly signs.

Enforcement of this rule will not work against the interests of any advertiser or agent. It will promote their interests. For to the user of the national forests, the out-of-door enthusiast and nature lover, nothing is more offensive and angrier than the appearance of a billboard or other grotesque sign marring the face of nature. The reaction of those who view such defacement of the forests and mountains is, in the majority of cases, a resolution not to patronize the advertiser.

Oakland has lost a highly useful citizen in the death of Mr. J. W. McClymonds, superintendent emeritus of the Oakland public schools. Twenty-four years of service in the cause of public education as active superintendent of schools was a contribution of which Mr. McClymonds was justly proud. In his regime much of the development that gave to the local schools a metropolitan standing of the highest rank took place. His interest in the welfare of the schools and of efficient school administration never slackened and he always was found on the side opposed to changes which would take the control of the schools from the people and lessen the efficiency of the system of public education.

Reports from all over the country indicate a pronounced revival in the art of public speaking. State men who have heretofore, blown their smoke up their own fireplaces, are attending classes in gesture and shout, bashful youths are learning to point with pride and meek Pricillas are denouncing the iniquities. The thing has become commercialized until a man may invest in a two-cent stamp as a fee and get the prospectus of a course by mail. Following this, by throwing one's nest-egg after the stamp, it is possible to become an orator with no discomfort to anyone save the immediate family.

The question arises, what is the cause of this sudden revival of phrases, this sudden leap to the platform? It cannot be that the removal, by act of Volstead, of the bar-room chance for oratory has stimulated a desire for sober conversation. We are in favor of every man being his own orator, for orators do not like to listen to other men speak. The more who wish to speak the greater the popular feeling against any individual who would monopolize the platform and possess the coveted opportunity. Yes, ladies and gentlemen, but there the thing has us now.

The first thing the student in oratory should do is learn the story about the other man stealing his speech. Equipped with this and the effrontery to bring it he is well on his way. On receipt of a two-cent stamp we will mail further suggestions under the headings:

"I didn't expect to be called upon tonight."

"When I look into these intelligent faces."

"That reminds me of a story of Mike and Pat."

"I am not much of a public speaker."

"We stand at the dawn of a new era."

"The toastmaster promised he wouldn't call upon me."

"There is nothing I can add to what the previous speaker has said, but—(good for forty minutes after the 'but')."

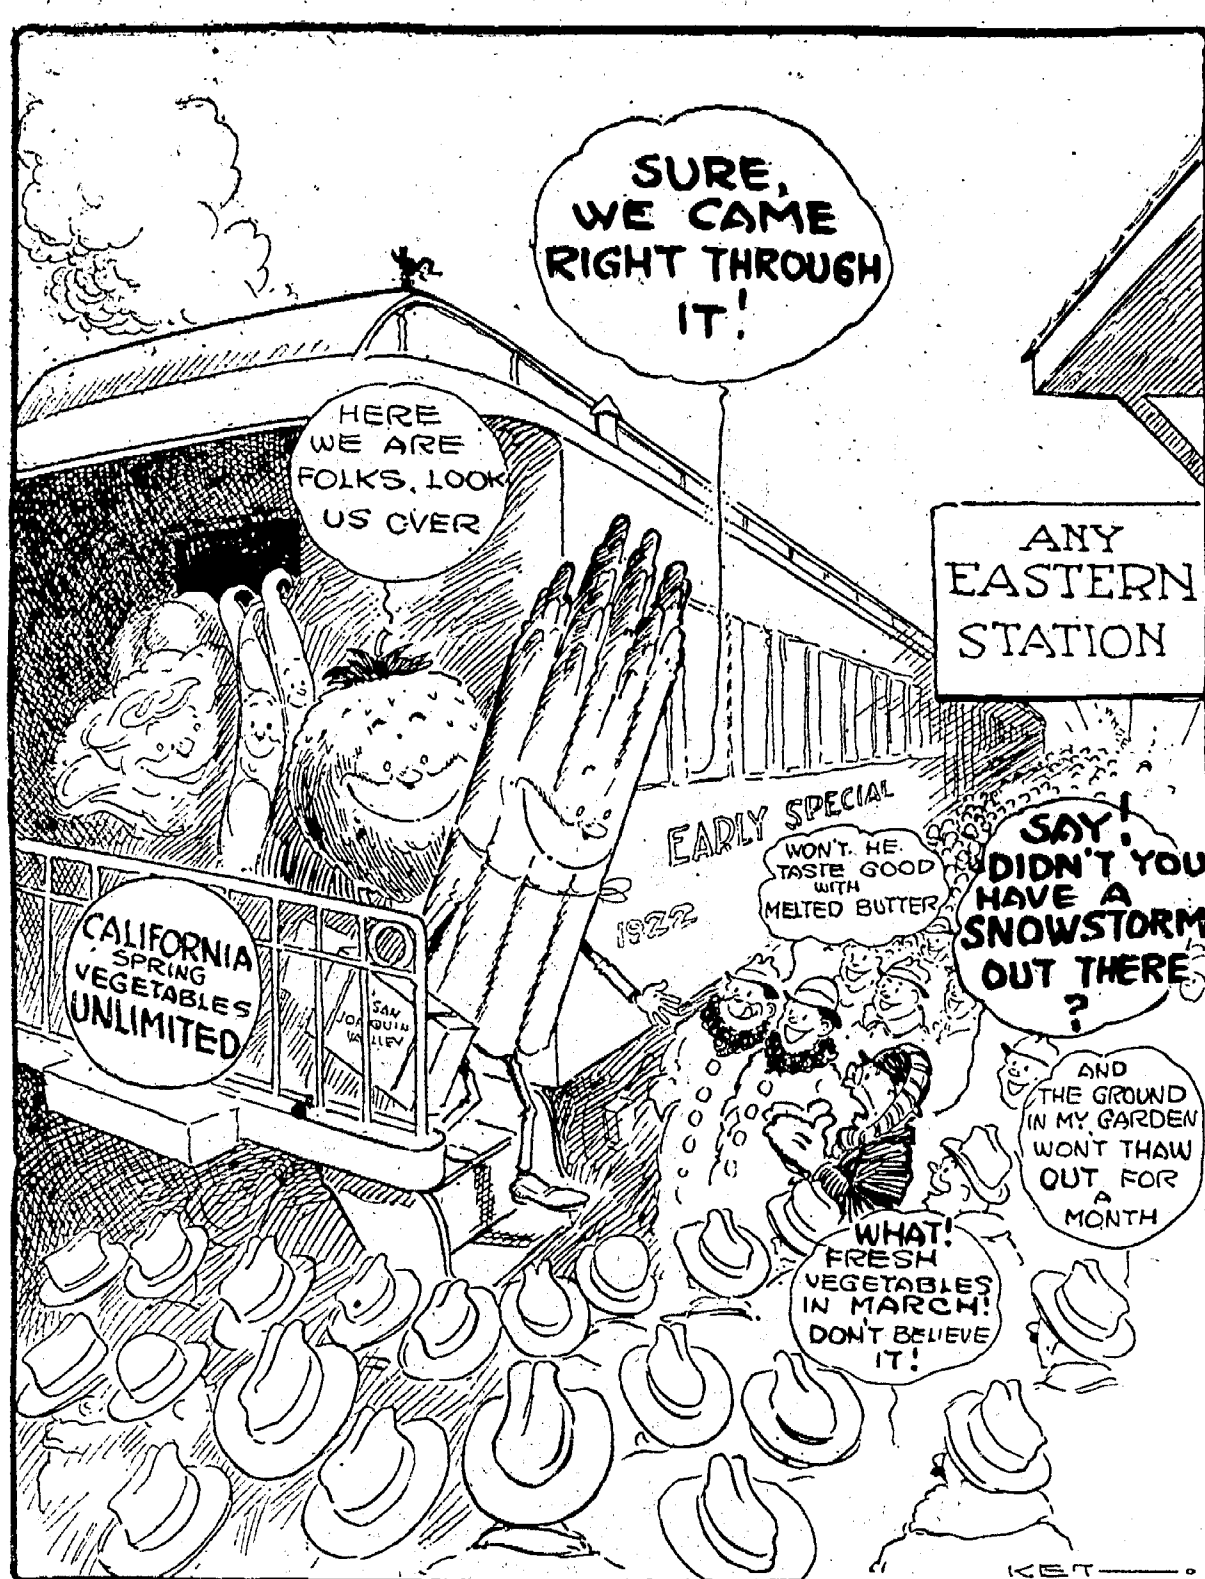

The silence from some of the contrails, we are reliably informed, is caused by the use of windmills in the fields of spring peas.

TAKING THE MESSAGE EAST.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The New York Sun heralds the "approach of an Eastern spring." "Spring approaches (on the calendar at least). The first robin already has skipped across a lawn in Jersey, and, with one eye cocked at the sky, played at tug-of-war with a frozen worm. Eggs have gone down to 29 cents a dozen, retail, the lowest in several years. From Connecticut comes a report that the first bud has pushed its way bravely out on a peach tree. The news at Washington Market is that Western dressed steers are now 13 to 13½ cents a pound the customary pre-war level."

How General Wood is becoming unpopular, according to the Brooklyn Eagle: "General Leonard Wood is fast developing unpopularity among the less energetic Filipinos. His war on soft government jobs is objected to, and a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Tagalogs may be the next thing on the insular program."

The Boston Transcript seems unafraid: "James M. Cox is to take the stump against Senator Lodge. Remembering the result of the last campaign in which Mr. Cox was a figure, his appearance here would seem to make the re-election of the senator a certainty doubly certain."

The Medford Mail-Tribune takes account of a pious project: "James J. Jeffries, ex-heavyweight champion of the world, has completed all plans to be an evangelist, and will start making a circus out of religion and an acrobatic monkey out of himself, at once."

News from home via the Kansas City Star: "Bandits hold drinking bout in Los Angeles man's cellar. Which recalls the Abe Martin classic of a year ago: 'Mr. and Mrs. Ez. Push was awakened at an early hour this mornin' by burglars singin' in the cellar.'"

This from the Chicago News; but what was that famous remark? "Prof. Hart's theory that George Washington was red-headed is not supported by the evidence. But perhaps the professor judged the great man's hair by the famous remark made to Lee at Monmouth."

Congressional Latin, according to the Boston Transcript: "Classic quotations still crop out occasionally in the Congressional Record, but the only Latin that this Congress really knows is 'tax vobiscum.'"

Growth of Contra Costa in population was brought forcibly to Wells today as he rummaged through old records in the clerk's office. Documents of 1899 revealed the population to have been but 18,000. Today the registration of voters exceeds that figure, in 1900 reaching 20,000, and the population is now 60,000. In 1899 less than 5000 voters were registered.—Contra Costa Courier.

A TAX ON BILLBOARDS. State Senator Theodore Douglas Robinson has introduced a bill in the Legislature which, he believes, will add $10,000,000 annually to the revenues of the States without doing anyone any harm, while it may improve the scenery. The measure would tax bill boards. It has been before the Legislature on a number of occasions. It has been introduced sometimes by legislators who really want the billboards taxed, and by others who were willing that lobbyists should have the pleasure of killing it.

Even the best of billboards hardly can be pleasing to the aesthetic eye and mind, and there are thousands of artistic atrocities which none but the stone blind can escape. They improve no architecture and deface many an otherwise entrancing landscape. They thrust themselves on the view in a way that justifies a levy on behalf of the public which must suffer them.—Buffalo Express.

GENOA

A conference on European finances at Genoa suggests a revival of the city's home industry, remarks a bulletin issued by the National Geographic Society on "Genova la Superba," as the Italians call the great commercial doorway, a port for two thousand years.

"Genoa was one of the pioneers in European finance," says the bulletin. "It had one of the first full-fledged banks in the Banca di San Giorgio, the rival and for a long time the peer of the great bank of Venice. The Banca di San Giorgio more than 500 years ago had such modern trappings as a real estate department, which took charge of conquered territories, administered them somewhat after the fashion of a modern trust company and, after putting them on a sound economic basis, ceded them back to the Genoese government. Later when Spain had its wonderful development of power and came near dominating the world, Genoa served as banker to its kings and as a sort of general manager and outfitter to its armies and navies."

"Unlike the people of some of its old rival cities, the Genoese have managed to keep much of the financial and business ability which gave importance in the Middle Ages. Today its busy harbor testifies to its position as the greatest Italian port, the second port of the Mediterranean and the fifth port on the mainland of Europe. Forty per cent of Italy's commerce is said to pass through the harbor of Genoa."

"The wealth that the business ability of the Genoese brought to their coffers has been recorded in stone, in the city's many palaces larger and more numerous than those of any other Italian city. From the harbor Genoa sweeps before the observer in a great semi-circle, its buildings rising tier above tier on the slope of hills which extend almost from the water's edge. Beyond the closely built foreground the hillsides are studded with gleaming villas set in their terraced gardens. In the background, on the crest of the enclosing hills are the ramparts that tell of the days when Genoa, supreme at sea, must protect her rear from hostile neighbors on land."

"Genoa lays claim to having given the world some of its foremost citizens. Columbus has long been believed to have been a native of a little village near the city. A statue of the great discoverer occupies a square near the harbor from which he is said to have sailed to take up the life of a mariner. Amerigo Vesputius, whose name has been given to the continents of the hemisphere that Columbus discovered, was also a Genoese. In later years Genoa produced Mazzini, Italian patriot, who devoted his life to making Italy free. Genoa, says the bulletin, still another celebrity. Near the harbor of Columbus on the walls of the municipal palace hangs a portrait of one of the world's premier travelers Marco Polo. He was taken prisoner in one of the battles in which the Genoese fleet defeated that of Venice, and while in prison in Genoa dictated to a fellow prisoner the narrative of his famous travels."

KEY ROUTE PIE, HASH NETS BIG ANNUAL INCOME

To apple pie and hash the Key Route Company owes 23 per cent of its income for the year of 1921. The transportation of millions of people to and from Oakland netted 77 per cent.

This was told the attendants at the Key System Educational section at the semi-monthly meeting in the assembly rooms at Twenty-second and Grove streets today by W. J. Jenkins, the chief speaker. According to Jenkins, the commissary department is one of the most important departments of the system.

Apple pie was the favorite, hungry commuters consuming 212,617 orders during the year. Corn beef hash took second place with 78,124 orders and soup third with 66,943 orders. The total number of meals served was $18,525.

Supplies sold through the news stands alone, such as cigars, cigarettes, newspapers and magazines, brought in $158,478.61.

Setting forth the red side of the ledger, Jenkins showed that expenses for replacing lost or broken dishes and silverware amounted to $1,978.56, while $21,666.63 was paid out for miscellaneous expenses, such as linen, laundry, fuel, ice, taxes, insurance, repairs, etc. In handling the total news stand business for the year an actual net loss of $1.65 was incurred through an error in receiving and charging out stock.

President H. J. Bell was chairman of the meeting and introduced Nell E. Larkin, income tax expert, as a second speaker. Larkin dealt with the history and meaning of the income tax as well as the proper method of handling individual returns.

SCHWIMLEY TO FACE GIRL HERE TONIGHT

"Kidnaped" U. C. Senior to Be Called Into Conference to Produce Witnesses Denying Hunter Girl's Story.

Unable to decide whether or not he will marry Miss Charlotte Hunter, Leslie Carr Schwimley, minister's son and university senior, has been requested by Preston Higgins to attend another conference in the office of the district attorney this evening to determine his future.

At a meeting yesterday, according to Higgins, Schwimley denied the charge made by Miss Hunter and her father, H. W. Hunter, and said that he had not made up his mind whether he would marry the young woman or not. On his decision, Higgins said, rests the future action of Hunter and the state.

Schwimley contended at the conference yesterday, according to Higgins, that he did not promise to marry Miss Hunter and that she knew of his marriage to the other girl. He said that he could produce witnesses to this effect and the second conference was called in order to give him opportunity of proving this contention.

Hurriedly married to Miss Hazel Pentecost on March 2 in Redwood City, Schwimley was furnished with an announcement yesterday that Miss Pentecost had obtained a decree of annulment from Superior Judge George H. Buck in that city on the ground that she had been deceived.

Miss Pentecost alleged that Schwimley married her when he learned that Hunter intended to press criminal charges against him and that Schwimley admitted this when questioned later by Miss Pentecost and her mother. She testified that had she been advised of the facts she would not have married Schwimley.

According to Higgins, a charge may be placed against Schwimley which will take him into the juvenile court in the event he does not marry Miss Hunter. He said that the prosecution could only request a marriage, however, and could not order it. The second conference will be held this evening with Miss Hunter and her father present.

Schwimley and his former bride, Miss Pentecost, are both seniors at the University of California. Schwimley is the son of Rev. W. A. Schwimley, pastor of the Calvary Congregational church.

Fight On Selected Stadium Site Opens

BERKELEY, March 9.—The Campus Protective Association in a statement issued late yesterday sets forth four points against building the athletic stadium in Strawberry canyon.

Among other things the claim is made that to put the proposed bowl on the campus would mean to violate the principles and ultimate plans of university authorities and the Academic Senate comprising the faculty.

The statement is issued as the outgrowth of an indignation meeting in Cloyne court and is directed at an organization of alumni which was recently formed to sponsor the Strawberry Canyon stadium site.

This afternoon at the tennis courts, Canyon road and Prospect avenue, a meeting was held under the auspices of the Campus Protective association. Details of the proposed bowl were related and a model of the canyon site placed on display.

'Brass Tacks' Suspends At Students' Demand

BERKELEY, March 9.—The demand by students that "Brass Tacks" be suppressed as a campus publication has been met, and the Agora society announced today that it would no longer print the fortnightly magazine. An effort to revive the magazine under new policies will be attempted by D. S. Marcovich, varsity yell leader. He will petition the student body for permission to attach the paper to the Occident as an organ of the English club.

Miss Genevieve Kelso, Director of Morgan Dancers, to Confine Activities to Southern Branch

BERKELEY, March 9.—After having conducted some of the most successful classes in dancing even held on the Berkeley campus, Miss Genevieve Kelso, for two years director of the famous Marion Morgan dancers, again will be associated with summer session activities of the university.

This time, however, Miss Kelso will confine her activities to the southern branch of the university. Well known about the bay for her artistry, Miss Kelso occupies an important place in aesthetic circles.

Last summer, on the Berkeley campus her classes were among the most popular features of the vacation courses offered by the college officials.

Four courses will be given by Miss Kelso in the south. One of these in social dancing is designed primarily for those interested in the improvement of conditions influencing the social life of high school and college students. Good form and style on the dance floor will be taught.

PRINCIPAL OF LAKEVIEW TO BE RETAINED

Edgar L. Muller and His Supporters Victorious by 2 to 1 Vote Against Faction That Would Displace School Man

Edgar L. Muller, principal of Lakeview school and father of "Brick" Muller, the famous University of California athlete, will be retained as president of the Oakland Teachers' Association.

This was presaged today, when returns of the teachers' election were practically completed. Directors who favored Muller were elected over their four opponents by a vote of more than 2 to 1. George M. Thiriot, former co-ordinator of the association, ran against Muller.

Gossip in teaching circles hints that Thiriot and a faction are considering a secession and the forming of an independent teachers' association of their own. Final decision in this matter, however, may not be reached for weeks.

The vote, practically complete except for a small chapter of the 54, was as follows: for members of the board of directors, Legne, 719; Poole, 354; Hartman, 713; McDonald, 343; Parker, 746; Morgan, 326; Wilds, 770; Fraser, 283.

Muller, not president of the Oakland Teachers' Association, is the school principal who nearly came to blows recently with Fred A. Campbell of the board of education, holding that Campbell had accused the teaching force of "disloyalty to the board of education" and other things.

Muller was held away from Campbell by many teachers, who refuse to be quoted as saying that the anti-Thiriot vote is a protest against the majority members of the board of education. This viewpoint, however, is denied by board members and minority teachers.

Elmhurst Civic Club Plans Celebration

The plans anniversary of the organization of Elmhurst Community club will be celebrated tomorrow night in Redman's hall, Ninety-fourth avenue and East Fourteenth street. According to Mrs. Emmie Baxley, secretary, the club is seeking a membership of 2000.

The police are seeking a "Peeping Tom" who has been operating in West Oakland in the vicinity of Eighteenth and Adeline streets. The search followed a report of Mrs. M. Asher, 116 Eighteenth street, last night that a man had peered into the windows of the house. Inspectors E. A. Wallman and Edward O'Donnell investigated.

HUNTER WILL SURVEY NEW SCHOOL RULE

Superintendent Returns From Chicago Convention, Where Educators Opposed Splitting Authority; For Supervisors

Returning from Chicago, where he attended the convention of the superintendents' division of the National Education Association, Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter today started a survey of his coming work under the new rules, which turns as one element of the three departments, of which his is only one.

Hunter, previous to starting East, gave his opinion of the proposed new rules to the board of education in no uncertain terms. The rules were adopted during his absence. He turns as one element of the three-headed school administration.

"My opinion of such an organization is well known," says Hunter. "I am opposed to such an idea. I do not think it is for the best interests of the schools or the children; but the rules are now the rules of the board of education and I shall of course live up to them so long as they exist."

A coincidence is that the National Education Association at its meeting in the East adopted resolutions against splitting authority and responsibility in a school department, holding that the modern trend of education and business life is toward centralization, Hunter reported.

The National Education Association, according to Hunter, also adopted opinions favoring supervisors in a school department. The supervisors, held the Association, bear the same office that captains and lieutenants bear to an army—intermediaries between the commanding officers and the men.

"It would be impossible for a colonel to keep in touch with all the soldiers, just as it would be impossible for a superintendent to keep in touch with all the teachers," said Hunter recently, "except in the case of a very small school department. Oakland is growing. We need supervisors."

One of the attacks of the board of education recently has been upon supervisors, holding that many of these position are unnecessary.

Husbands Lose Super-man Rate, Are Divorced

Are husbands losing their traditional position as "superior beings" in the eyes of their wives, as the result of equal suffrage, and other things? This is the question raised in the superior court today as the result of two divorce suits, one of which was filed and the other granted.

According to Mrs. Alma B. Dixon, her husband, George W. Dixon, told her he was superior to her in every way, and that, in fact, he was a superman. According to testimony, she would have accepted this view with meekness and pleasure. Instead, she filed suit against him for divorce, charging mental cruelty. The suit was filed by Attorney Howard L. Bacon.

The charges upon which Mrs. Madeline D. Kerr, member of a prominent Honolulu family, obtained an interlocutory decree from Alfred L. Kerr, were such as a generation or two ago she would probably have considered as points in his favor as a husband.

"He considered he had the right to exact obedience, whatever demand he made upon me," she told Superior Judge Joseph S. Koford. "He insisted upon prompt compliance to every whim, desire or order."

Judge Koford agreed with Mrs. Kerr that the obedience required of wives today isn't what it used to be, and gave her a decree of property settlement. It was stated that the divorce was granted by the court. Mrs. Kerr was represented by Attorneys Archibald Johnson and A. A. De Ligne of San Francisco.

Alleged Bad Check Passer Is Hunted

BERKELEY, March 9.—A bad check passer who succeeded in getting $33 from Cashier J. O. Matias of the College National bank is being sought today by the police. He gave the name of Harry King, but also used other names of Joseph B. Sanford and William King.

Green opened an account at the bank on February 27 by depositing three dollars, and a few days later is declared to have deposited checks for $104. On one of the checks he received $28 in cash and deposited $34 to his credit. The check was later returned to the bank marked worthless. Green gave his address at 1734 Chestnut street, Oakland. A letter sent there was returned unclaimed.

DEATH OPENS POLICE HUNT IN SHOOTING

Victim in Dying Statement, Implicates Rival; Woman Changes Story and Says Jealousy Caused Tragedy

Following the death last night of Pedro Aladesmo, who was shot either Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning, police were today searching for a man known as Albert Castro, who is believed responsible for the murder.

According to the dying statement of Aladesmo and the new version of the shooting given the police by Mrs. Emma Ortega, 714 Filbert street, in whose room the man was supposed to have been shot, Castro did the shooting out of jealousy. Aladesmo's statement declared that Tuesday night Castro found him in the room with Mrs. Ortega and fired four shots at the woman, which went wild and one which struck him in the abdomen and resulted in his death.

He was found unconscious in the room at 6:30 o'clock the next morning. The police, who had been notified by the shooting, arrived at the house in which Mrs. Ortega lives. Mrs. Ortega at first told the officers that Aladesmo came to her door wounded, saying that he had been shot in a street brawl. She would not talk of the shooting, other than to say that Mrs. Ortega was not responsible.

Later Mrs. Ortega changed her story and implicated Castro. She said that Aladesmo was in her room when Castro entered. She said Castro was jealous and started shooting. Mrs. Ortega said that he fled immediately after firing the shots.

A Start From Humble Beginning

Mr. Campbell, who was a lawyer, felt somewhat irritated on reaching his office at 8:30 in the morning to find the fire in the grate unkindled and the floor unswept and the place generally in a state of disorder. It was nearly 9 o'clock before Ike, his black office servant, appeared.

"Good Lord, Ike," said Mr. Campbell petulantly. "What's detained you?" "Mist' Campbell," apologized Ike, "you must please, suh, excuse me fur bein' late dis one time. I sort of overslept mysef. Gwan-to-Bed Stories

THE MODERN YOUNG COW NAMED MABEL

Once upon a time, dear children, there was an old-fashioned cow named Sarah Jane who had been fetched up away off yonder away in the hill country. (Johnny, get off the piano). She had never been anywhere to speak of and she didn't know much except to chew her cud and come home in the evening at milking time. But she was quite contented with her lot, for she had no social or business ambitions to disturb her blissful bovinity.

It so happened (for such things do happen even in the best of cow families) that Sarah Jane Cow had a daughter named Mabel, a smart, snappy flapper sort of a cow with a lot of new-fangled ideas about efficiency and modernism. She had no patience for her mother's old-fashioned ways.

"Ma," she used to say, "you're a dear old locable fuddy-duddy back number; that's what you are. You do things the same way your mother and her mother's mother did them. No thought for progress or achievement or doing things differently for the mere joy of expressing your own individuality."

"As which?" inquired Sarah Jane Cow, chewing her cud for the fourth or fifth time.

"As a lot of things," replied Mabel Cow. "Don't you ever get tired of giving sweet milk, for instance? Why don't you give them some Bulgarian butter milk for a change? Wouldn't they be surprised?"

Sarah Jane Cow thought earnestly for a moment. "Yes, I believe they would."

(Dorothy, if that was the baby that fell out of the window, you might close it, please.)

"Well, I've thought it all over," said Mabel Cow, enthusiastically, "and I've decided that I will do things differently. For instance, instead of giving fresh milk every morning and evening, I'm going to give condensed milk in cans some days. On other days I will deliver my milk pasteurized in pints and quarts. You may help me put those little paper tops on the bottles. I have also considered the proposition very seriously of doing all my own churning once or twice a week and going into the 'smearcase' cheese industry on the side."

Just then Alfred Cow, a handsome young fellow, looked across the fence and smiled at Mabel. That was the beginning of her romance. And that was the end of Mabel's ambitious plans to express her individuality by delivering her milk in pasteurized pints and quarts.

That's all. Gwan to bed.

Chips Off the Block by Robert Quillen

The inevitable: A lazy man's alibi.

Hollywood appears to be in need of a little judicious pruning. There doesn't seem to be anything left of "splendid isolation" except a state of mind.

One of Edison's men predicts a return to inflated prices. What does he mean, "return"?

"The voice of the people demands sound financing." Sure. But it needs a sound amplifier.

Suggested subhead for all stories concerning methods of raising the bonus: "Read 'em and weep."

A woman never realizes that the worst has happened until the salesman says: We have some charming models in stouts."

The public is beginning to suspect that a star of first magnitude is one who loves the director.

In a small town, feminism manifests itself only as an anxiety to pay off the debt on the church.

What we can't understand is how the small investor so unerringly picks out the swindlers to handle his funds.

The tax-payer's idealism now takes the form of a conviction that the doughboy shouldn't place a price tag on patriotism.

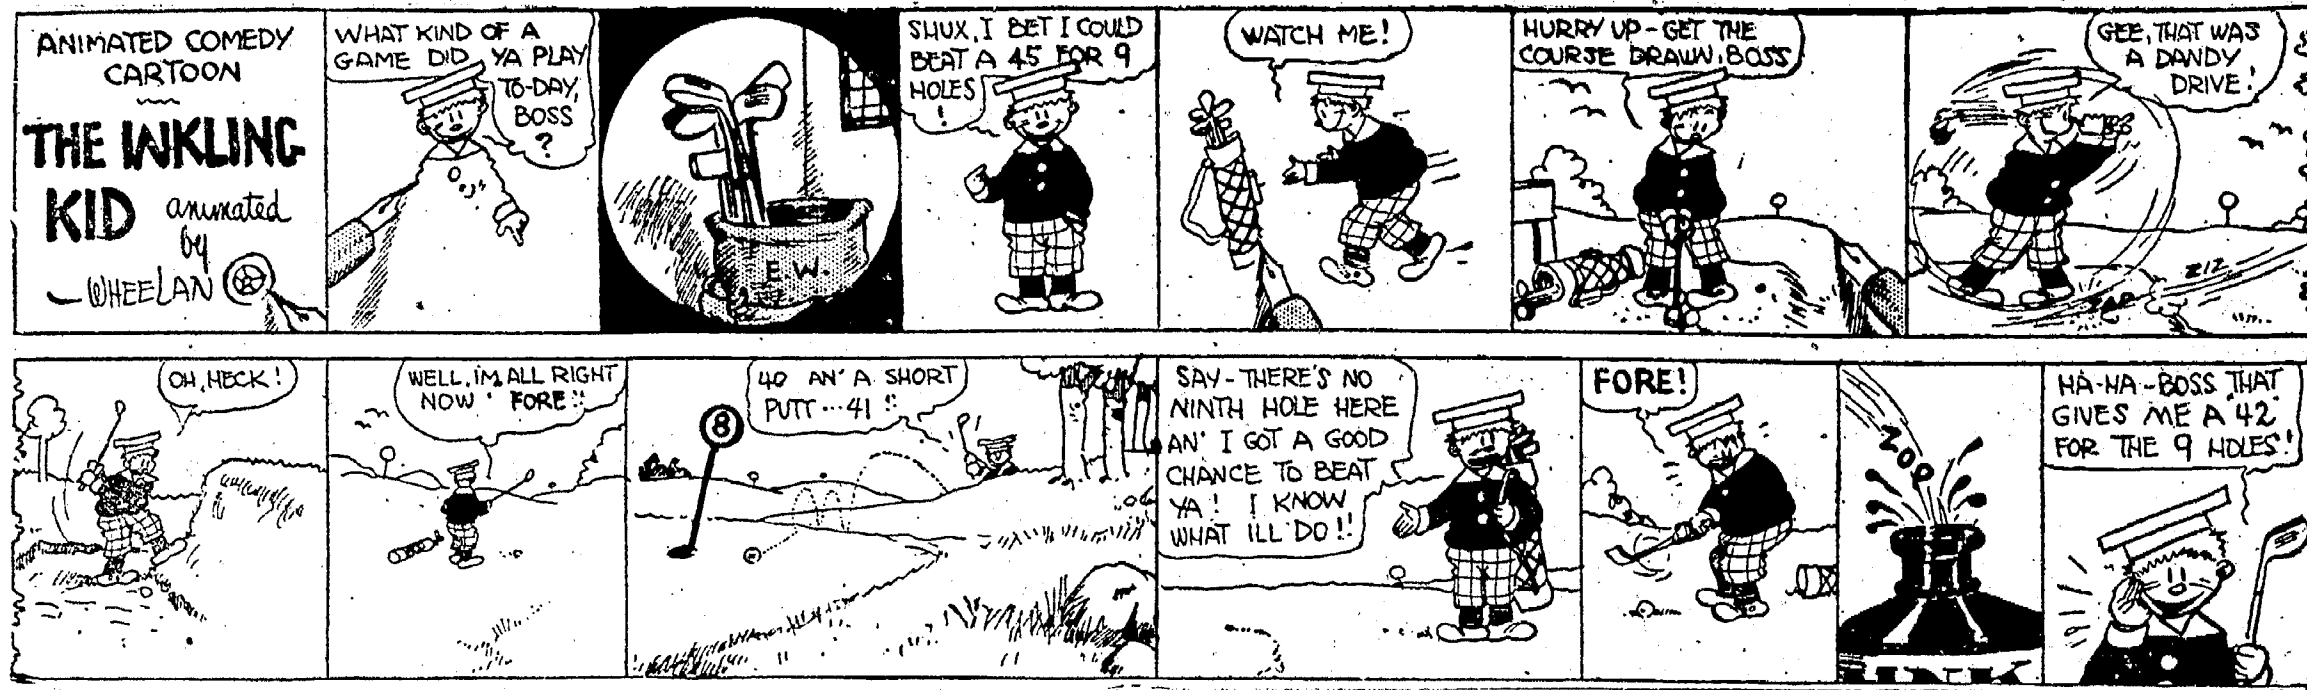

All plans to save the country begin with the assumption that all things are possible to one who has access to the treasury.

When one's arteries begin to harden, about the only pleasure left is that of scolding about the way the young people dress.

Once upon a time there was a man who remembered to buy a new tube of toothpaste on the day his supply gave out. Now you tell one.

J. W. McCLYMONDS,

WITH HIGH HONORAssociates and Former Pupils

School Pioneer.

Men who have been actively identified with the development of the educational system in the East Bay cities and former students acted as pallbearers at the funeral of J. W. McClymonds, superintendent emeritus of the Oakland public schools. Services were held from the family home, 83 Monte Vista avenue, this afternoon. Rev. Alexander Allen, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, officiating.

The honorary pallbearers were: Harrison D. Rowe, J. P. Garlick, Dr. M. J. Hamilton, Fred, Dr. S. K. Foster, C. H. Reddington, David R. Jones, C. K. Shane, Fred L. Button, Professor E. C. Ruch, C. F. Gulich, Dr. A. F. Lange, W. M. Greenwell, Charles Burchhalter and C. W. Myerlin.

The active pallbearers were: Robert G. Arlett, Dr. C. T. Froderick, H. M. Kinney, William S. Wells Jr., R. M. Lyman Jr. and William A. Powell. With the exception of Powell, they all attended the old Lincoln school when McClymonds was its principal.

For nearly a quarter of a century McClymonds was superintendent of schools in this city and was prominently known throughout the state for his progressive work as an educator. He resided in this city a half century. His first assignment in the local school department was as principal of the Lincoln school. As superintendent emeritus he was in charge of the patriotic work in the schools.

McClymonds died on Tuesday, following a brief illness. While on his way to consult a physician in San Francisco on Monday he collapsed and was removed to a sanatorium. Death was due to heart failure.

Spring Fever Cure
Is Found At U. C.

BERKELEY, March 9.—A sure cure for "spring fever" has been found by professors at the university. Continuing absences by many students from classes and lectures caused the teachers to search for some method of securing better attendance. One of the professors have announced to their classes that informal "quizzes" may be held at any time in the near future and that the papers will be counted material in fixing the final course grade.

Don't Let
That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

Rub On Good Old Musterole That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe, or even worse, Pneumonia, unless you treat it at once. Rub good old Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

Colds are merely congestion. Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which restores circulation promptly and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster, it does the work without the mustard plaster's sting and blister. During the "Flu" epidemic a few years ago Musterole was used in our training camps. The Y. M. C. A. War Board sent thousands of jars to France for our soldiers overseas.

Doctors have been recommending it to their patients for years for colds, aches and pains.

Just rub it on with your finger tips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

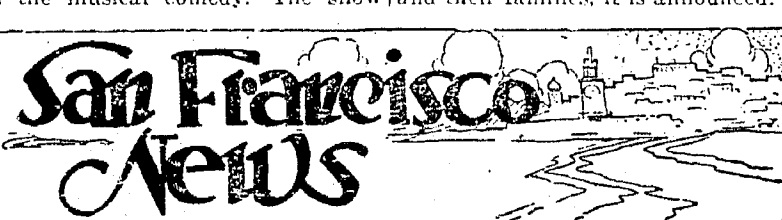

Your druggist has Musterole: 15c and 55c in jars and tubes; hospital size $3.00.

"The Isle of Koo Koo," a one-act musical comedy, will be a feature of the vaudeville show to be given by Yerba Buena Lodge of the Masons. The show will take place Friday evening at Ebell hall. Miss Lorraine Marie Wise, Oakland dancer, will assume the leading role in the musical comedy. The show will be under the direction of Richard ("Dick") Glissman, former musical comedy star.

THEATER HEAD,
WOMEN FIGHT
OVER FILM BAN

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—C. A. Duddy, manager of the Francisco theater, defended "The Clansman" at a meeting of the vigilante committee yesterday. That film is being shown at his theater. When he accused the women of employing "star chamber" methods in their attempts to suppress the picture, Mrs. W. B. Hamilton, vice-president of the committee, ordered him from the room. He stood his ground, however.

Later he left the meeting to get an affidavit disproving bribery charges against him. When he returned the committee had adopted a resolution opposing the showing of the picture. The resolution will be presented to the board of supervisors on Monday.

Horse Show Opens
Tomorrow Evening

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—The annual spring horse show will open tomorrow evening at the Seventh Avenue Riding club. The entries will include some of the best saddle horses on the Pacific coast, it is announced. There are 95 horses entered in this year's show. A large collection of cups and other trophies will be awarded.

Commonwealth Club
To Hear Dr. Devine

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—Dr. Devine will speak at the Commonwealth luncheon at the Palace hotel tomorrow on the subject, "Our Foreign Obligations." Dr. Devine was sent to San Francisco after the fire of 1906 to handle the Red Cross relief funds.

Unified Drive For
S. F. Charities Urged

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—Various expressions of opinion are being heard on the suggestion that all drives and fund campaigns be combined in one big campaign held annually, in which all organizations are to co-operate. The idea is to lighten the burden on the donors. The plan is now under consideration, according to Supervisor Ralph McLeran, chairman of the finance committee of the board of supervisors.

Woman Borrows
Motor; Arrested

BERKELEY, March 9.—A borrowed automobile yesterday led to sorrow for Mrs. C. H. Terry, well known society leader of 73 Plaza Drive. While trying out a car borrowed from a garage while her own automobile was undergoing repairs, she was arrested by Sergeant Oscar Putzker. According to Putzker she chased Mrs. Terry for a half mile on University avenue. Besides the speeding charge Mrs. Terry was also booked for having no operator's license. She was given a five-day notice to appear in court.

OAKLAND FIRMS
SIGN FOR SELLING
TOUR OF VALLEYFifty-eight Concerns Will Be Represented On Chamber Of Commerce Trip.

Approximately eighty-five Oakland concerns already have signified their intention of being represented on the San Joaquin Valley Selling "Tour" which has been planned by the Oakland Chamber of Commerce to "sell" Oakland to San Joaquin valley communities and establish closer trade relations.

The tour, the first of similar tours scheduled for 1922, will take place about April 1. It is under the supervision of the trade extension committee of the chamber. Plans in connection with the tour are to be held at the chamber at the Hotel Oakland tomorrow noon.

According to those sponsoring the trip, more than 125 magnificent views of the valley are expected to sign up for the journey by the first of next month.

The tentative itinerary which will be presented at tomorrow's meeting provides for one week in the San Joaquin valley with stops at approximately 24 different towns between Oakland and Bakersfield.

A special train is to be chartered for this excursion. It will be made up of baggage cars for the display and will carry, in addition to the Pullman, an observation coach. Since the excursion was first announced some days ago much interest has been displayed by cities on the proposed route, and the committee is looking forward to a most successful trip.

The committee in charge of the arrangements is made up as follows: F. W. Mayhew, Western Casket company; Max Greenberg, Greenberg-Franklin company; C. A. Nesbitt, Western Heavy Hardware; C. C. Reeves, National Wood Renovating company; Ralph Seely, Union Oil company.

Rowdies Threaten
All U. C. Celebrations

BERKELEY, March 9.—Threatening the traditional celebrations of the university students by their disorderly conduct, men who were offenders at the Prytanean Fete last Saturday evening were called to task by student officers and severely punished. President David B. Barrows prohibited the "Big C Circus" because of the disorder which the gathering caused, and the collegians fear that the ungentlemanly actions of a few students may lose for them many of their other events.

It is rumored on the college campus that the names of fifty-one men were secured at the Prytanean Fete and that they will be called before the student affairs committee for trial. President Barrows has declared that severe punishment will be given to disorderly and ungentlemanly students found at any college affairs.

Boy Scouts To Aid
In Clothing Canvass

PIEDMONT, March 9.—Arrangements are being made by the boys representing Piedmont Council, Boy Scouts of America, for a house-to-house canvass to be conducted by them on Saturday, March 11, to call for used clothing. The clothing is to be turned over to the needy.

The idea for the drive grew out of the announcement that there are now about 1,500 families in Alameda county who lack sufficient clothing. It is stated that 125 boys will engage in the canvass. Dodgers have been delivered by the boys at all the Piedmont homes calling attention to the drive.

All Piedmont residents are urged by the Boy Scouts to donate all the used clothing they can spare.

Health Organization
Will Hold Luncheon

Members of the Alameda County Tuberculosis Association will meet at luncheon at Hotel Oakland tomorrow to discuss the work of the organization and several projects which are under consideration. The Preventorium for Children will be introduced by Roscoe D. Jones, chairman of that department. Nutrition work in the public schools will be reviewed by several projects. The possibility of a work-shop plan for ambulatory tuberculosis patients will be presented by Dr. Chesley Bush. E. K. Taylor will outline the health program framed for the industrial plants. Changes in the legislative program for the association will be noted by Judge Charles E. Snook.

Wife Seeking Divorce
Asks Protection

BERKELEY, March 9.—The marital troubles of Lena and Arthur Agnew which led to the former filing a suit for divorce in Oakland yesterday also brought the couple to police station last night.

According to Mrs. Agnew, who lives at 3635 Grove street, Oakland, her husband has continually threatened her. She appeared at police station with her mother, Mrs. Mattie Hackett, 563 Thirty-fifth street, Oakland, and her ten-year-old daughter, Juanita, to ask that she be protected.

According to Agnew, who lives at 1529 Harmon street, Berkeley, he wants the child properly cared for. Agnew was warned to stay away from his wife.

Two Old Residents
Of Alameda Dead

ALAMEDA, March 9.—Death claimed another old-time resident of Alameda last night in the person of John S. Fitz. His death followed a prolonged illness. He was 89 years old and had lived in this city many years. Funeral services will be held Saturday under the auspices of Woodstock Lodge, F. & A. M. NEW POUND FOR
STRAY ANIMALS
ACCEPTED BY CITYOakland Society For Prevention of Cruelty to Animals
Will Be Relieved.

The new public pound building Ford and Lancaster streets was accepted yesterday by the city department of public works and will go into commission, March 15 as a branch of the department of public health and safety.

The building as a $3000 structure spread over a considerable area to accommodate pens for dogs, cats, pigs, cows, goats and any other animals which partake of its more or less deadly hospitality.

The Oakland Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will be relieved of its duty as poundmaster March 15, when the city takes over the job. The decision to do this was made by the city council several months ago, after the S. P. C. A. had undergone various factional fights which went into the courts. The society, however, agreed to carry the burden until the city's pound should be ready.

Dr. C. C. Wing, city veterinarian, will be in general charge of the pound as part of his department. A poundmaster, doctor and clerks are yet to be appointed.
